A NEW STAR BLAZES FORTH; GIANTS COMPLETELY ROUTED

Leslie Bush, 19 Year Old Boy, Twirled Athletics to Decisive Victory

Tesreau's Spit-Ball Delivery Combed for Total of a Dozen Taps

GIANTS HELD TO FIVE HITS

In One Day Leslie Bush Leaps to Pedestal of Fame Along With Hugh Bedient, Babe Adams and Others.

New York, Oct. 9.—A new star blazed forth in the world's series baseball firmament today when Leslie Bush pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to victory over the New York Giants in the third game of the championship struggle by a score of 8 to 2. Bush was materially aided in his rush to a pedestal by the savage batting of his team mates, but the major portion of the glory was accorded by both fans and players to the youngster who startled the diamond veterans with his speed and control in his debut in a world's series.

While his pitching was not as spectacular as that of the veterans Mathewson and Plank yesterday, his box work was of the calibre that entitles him to a niche alongside Hugh Bedient, of the Boston Red Sox, and "Babe" Adams, of the Pittsburg Pirates, who performed similar feats of twirling valor in past world's series.

So effective was Bush's pitching that the Giants secured but five hits and three of these were of the scratch variety. Only three of the 27 put-outs credited to the Athletics were made outside the infield and there were innings on a stretch when the Giants never drove the ball out of the diamond.

Bush made his leap into the limelight under the most favorable circumstances, for his hard hitting teammates tore into Tesreau with a fusillade of raps in the first two innings that netted five runs and relieved the youngster of the strain of pitching with the margin of safety narrower entirely missing. The first four Athletics on Connie Mack's batting list—Murphy, Oldring, Collins and Baker—between them made nine of the 12 hits recorded for the Philadelphia club and these nine hits scored seven of the visitors' eight runs. In contrast to this, not a single National League player secured two hits and Shafer's double was the only one good for more than one base.

The Athletics' latest twirling star, who will not be 20 years of age until November 27th, did not pitch phenomenal ball, but his delivery had entirely too much speed and break for the Giants to grow familiar with it during the first introduction to the Minnesota hurler. Bush was just wild enough to keep the New York batters guessing and his quick changes of pace and delivery made an added handicap to the Giants. He walked four batters and hit a fifth, but each time he faltered his nerve and the brilliant fielding of his team mates soon lifted him back to safety.

Bender's Townsman.

The victory of Bush, who hails from the same town as "Chief" Bender, was exceedingly popular with the Athletic players and the club adherents. It has been known for some time that he had great possibilities as a pitcher, but until he stood today's test his status was more or less uncertain.

"Bullet Joe" as he has been nicknamed because of his great speed, broke into baseball as a member of an amateur team in his home town. During the season of 1910 he played in every position except catcher. His first professional engagement was with the Missoula, Mont., team of the Union Association. Here he was spotted by one of the Athletics' scouts and joined the Mack-men in September a year ago.

Disappointment among the Giants' contingent over the downfall of Tesreau was keen. The Ozark Mammoth was looked upon before today's game as the Giants' second best card. But although he had his moist ball delivery breaking at all kinds of angles today, he could not control its direction. The Athletics' batting quartette refused to hit except when the ball was over the plate and then they laid against it lustily.

So vigorously did they clout the sphere that the defeat would have become an utter rout, but for sensational stops and throws by Doyle, Fletcher and Herzog at critical stages. Capt. Larry Doyle's stops and plays were of the brand that has made Honus Wagner famous. Eddie Collins carried off the fielding honors, although there were plays by other members of both teams that would have been considered little short of remarkable in an ordinary league season game. The very fact that but one error was recorded for each team testifies to the calibre of the fielding in the third game of the series, including as it did four double plays.

Today 36,888 fans paid to pass the Polo Ground turnstiles, exceeding by several hundred the attendance at the opening game. The gate receipts totaled $75,763.50, and the club owners saw thousands of eager fans with real money in their hands turned away because there was not a foot of space inside the park that could be sold to them.

Scores of speculators did business brazenly along Eighth avenue, selling tickets at many times their face value.

With tomorrow's game in Philadelphia the players' division of receipts will cease, but neither they nor the

DAUGHTERS ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. Williams Again Chosen President—Other Elections, Including Mrs. Huggins of Wilmington—Reception.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Tarboro, N. C., Oct. 9.—Reports of the various committees and the election of officers for the ensuing year occupied the attention of the North Carolina Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, in session here today.

Mrs. Marshall Williams, of Faison, was re-elected president, as were also Mrs. M. O. Winstead, of Rocky Mount, second vice president; Mrs. Thad W. Thrash, Tarboro, recording secretary; Miss Winifred Faison, Faison, corresponding secretary; Miss Margaret Etheridge, Selma, treasurer; Miss Carrie Leazer, Mooresville, historian; Miss Hettie James, Wilmington, chaplain; Mrs. Gordon Finger, Charlotte, director of children's chapters.

The newly elected officers were Mrs. Frank Huggins, Wilmington, first vice president; Mrs. H. A. Riggins, Winston-Salem, third vice president; Mrs. Felix Harvey, Kinston, registrar; Mrs. H. L. Reed, Lincolnton, recorder of crosses.

Mrs. William Dorsey Pender, Norfolk, Va., and Mrs. J. Bryan Grimes, Raleigh, were unanimously elected honorary presidents of the North Carolina Division.

Mrs. Fannie Ransom Williams, Newton, was endorsed by the State division as a candidate for the recording secretaryship of the General Division.

A feature of the morning business session was a memorial service to the departed members.

Tonight Mrs. Fannie Ransom Williams told the Daughters of the origin of the Stars and Bars. Her address was replete with authentic historical facts setting forth the circumstances surrounding the creation of the accepted flag of the United States of the Confederacy, and that the honor belonged to the late Major Orren Randolph Smith, of North Carolina.

Mrs. J. A. Fore addressed the Daughters on the last full meeting of the Confederate cabinet, holding that this honor belonged solely to Charlotte.

Other addresses were made by Miss Carrie Leazar and Mrs. R. H. Davis. A facsimile of the original stars and bars was presented by Mrs. Gordon Finger, of Charlotte, to the Children's Chapter.

From 5 to 6 this afternoon the Daughters were tendered a most brilliant reception by Mrs. Thad W. Thrash, at Cromwell Hall. The home was beautiful in its floral decorations, consisting of American beauties, chrysanthemums and roses. Mrs. Thrash carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums, the gift of Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Josephus Daniels.

The Daughters were received by Mrs. Thrash's house guests, Mrs. Josephus Daniels, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Latta Johnson, of Charlotte; Mrs. Daisy Denson, of Raleigh; Mrs. Sidney Cooper, of Henderson; Mrs. W. M. Creasy, of Wilmington; Mrs. H. A. Riggins, of Winston-Salem; Misses Margaret Etheridge, of Selma, and Anna Jean Gash, of Brevard. The Tarboro orchestra furnished music. Each guest was presented with a small vanity box, bearing the inscription, "Cromwell Hall, October 9th, 1913", and the three Confederate flags in colors.

The Daughters were the guests at luncheon today of the business men of Tarboro.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 9.—Accompanied by a party of Asheville people, Secretary and Mrs. Bryan today made a trip up the Vanderbilt exclusive automobile road to Mount Pisgah, where the Vanderbilt hunting lodge is located. They had luncheon at the lodge, returning tonight to Asheville. Secretary and Mrs. Bryan will be given a reception tomorrow.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Secretary Daniels after recently rejecting identical bids of the Carnegie, Bethlehem and Midvale Steel companies for battleship armor plates, today gave the companies until Tuesday to submit supplemental bids with the notice that the Navy Department would consider only competitive bids at a reduced price.

UNDERWOOD AGAINST REPEAL

Leader of the House Favors Provision As It Stands—Will Study Matter Thoroughly Before Acting.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Efforts to repeal the 5 per cent. tariff discount provision on imports in American ships, which has aroused the State and Treasury departments, met a set-back today with the return to the city of Representative Underwood, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, original champion of the clause.

After Joseph W. Folk, solicitor of the State Department, who advocates repeal of the provision, had talked to Mr. Underwood, he announced there would be no development in the matter for several days. It was also stated that President Wilson's mind in the premises is still open.

Representative Underwood still emphatically favors the provision.

"The tariff bill now is a law and I am for the bill as it stands," Mr. Underwood declared. "If the President indicates that he wished it repealed, I will call the Ways and Means Committee together to consider the idea. Even then I would not favor a repeal until a thorough hearing had been held."

Mr. Underwood further stated that he believed there was a misconception in the departments regarding the clauses and he believed it would work out advantageously to this country.

Incipient Riot at Moss Neck

(Special Star Telegram.)

Lumberton, N. C., Oct. 9.—Reports reached here this evening that there was a near-riot at Moss Neck, nine miles west of here on the Seaboard today.

A crowd estimated at 2,000 or 3,000 mostly indians, assembled to engage in fishing where the water was being drawn from a pond, covering several hundred acres there. Liquor is said to have been abundant and drunks numerous.

The trouble seems to have been between the Indians and negroes. An eye-witness says that a negro shot twice at Deputy Sheriff Lowery when the officer shot at the negro but missed him and hit a negro woman shattering her leg below the knee.

An Indian is said to have opened his artillery on an automobile occupied by a negro, causing the occupant to hunt the woods hastily. As many as could find room sought refuge under a nearby church. Deputy Lowery is reported to have been cut and shot. Three negroes are reported dead and many beaten with gun stocks, sticks, etc. Sheriff Lewis and deputies have gone to the scene.

Lumberton, N. C., Oct. 9.—Sheriff Lewis returned tonight from Moss Neck. When he arrived there the crowd had dispersed and everything was quiet. The sheriff did not see any of the injured as they had been carried away to physicians. The most seriously injured man was to be brought to the hospital here but at 10 o'clock had not arrived. Your correspondent conversed with several gentlemen tonight who were present during the trouble and while no one could tell how it originated, they all agreed that for some time it was dangerous to be in the community. No white people were engaged in the affair.

ADMINISTRATION DEFEND THE BILL

Action of Bankers Convention at Boston Condemned by Party Leaders

"AN ORGANIZED CONSPIRACY"

President Clearly Expressed His View Senators Very Emphatic and Charge Attempt to Misrepresent President.

Washington, Oct. 9.—A concerted defense by administration forces of the criticisms of the currency bill by bankers at the Boston convention of the American Bankers' Association and against what was alleged to be an organized effort to hinder its consideration and passage, served to clear the air in Washington today and to inspire a new feeling of confidence tonight in Democratic circles.

A Senate debate in which the bankers' criticisms came in for sharp answer from friends of the bill, found its echo later in the day when President Wilson made plain to callers his own view of the recent deevlopments surrounding the bill.

The President let it be known that he did not think the views of the Boston bankers' convention represented the general public sentiment of the country. In the President's views the attacks made on the bill by the convention represented the activities of men whom he believed to be acting with sincerity but who refused to yield their position of control of the country's financial system.

The expressions in the Senate were more emphatic.

"I think the Boston meeting's obvious purpose was to work up opposition to this bill," said Senator Owen, "and either to force the bankers' views or to delay or defeat this bill."

Senator Thomas talked of an "organized conspiracy" to misrepresent the President and impede legislation; Senator Overman declared the Boston conference did not reflect the views of the general public, and Senator Owen answering a question by his Democratic colleagues said he believed there was an organized propaganda against the bill that found its reflection in the Boston conference.

Facts Developed.

The Senate debate and the later discussions by the President with White House visitors developed the following facts:

That no effort will be made to make the currency bill a party measure in the Senate unless it becomes impossible to get it through in any other way.

That the President believes early action on the bill essential, while many Democratic Senators will oppose any effort to unduly force the situation.

That the criticism of the bankers' conference at Boston has tended to solidify the Democratic ranks in support of the bill.

President Wilson told callers that time was most essential in the currency situation; that with the big accumulation of business in the Autumn and early Winter business men were anxious that the banking and credit question should be definitely settled at once.

Unduly Prolonged.

The President also took the position that the Senate's currency hearings had been unduly prolonged.

It was apparent when today's hearings of the currency bill ended that there had been no change in committee sentiment indicating an early termination of the committee work.

Democratic members insisted, however, that with proper time for consideration, it would be possible to get a complete bill out of the committee by November and its passage through the Senate might be accomplished in December.

Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, concluded his analysis of the measure before the committee today. Nathaniel French, of Davenport, Iowa, also occupied the witness stand for a short time before adjournment endorsing the bill in its essential features.

Mr. Vanderlip defended interlocking directorates among New York banks, declaring they had given strength and never had resulted in unfairness to borrowers. He denied there was any combination for monopoly of credit in New York that would prevent the financing of any sound enterprise.

OUTLINES

Alton B. Parker, counsel for the Impeachment Managers in the Sulzer trial, in his argument yesterday, denounced the Governor as no longer fit to be the Chief Executive of New York.

Upon his arrival at Washington yesterday Representative Underwood made it plain that he was against the repeal of the provision in the new tariff law giving imports in American ships a reduction of 5 per cent.

Maj. John D. Shaw, of Rockingham, N. C., Richmond county's leading citizen, died yesterday morning, after a few hours' illness.

A riot at Moss Neck, this State, Thursday, between Indians and negroes, resulted in several being wounded, among them a deputy sheriff.

PARKER FLAYS GOVERNOR SULZER

"No Longer Fit to Be the Chief Executive of This State."

FIFTY THOUSAND WORDS USED

Marshall, for the Defense, Impeached the Motives of Accusers as Based on "Passion and Caprice."

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Fifty thousand words of legal argument, scathing denunciation of Governor William Sulzer on the one side, and of his accusers on the other—delivered today by opposing counsel, brought a verdict in the trial of the impeached executive one day nearer.

Another day will be similarly occupied tomorrow, at the end of which the high court will go into executive session, it is expected to determine procedure in deciding the guilt or innocence of the accused. The court probably will then adjourn until Tuesday. There is some talk tonight, however, of taking a vote Saturday. The procedure to be adopted will include the manner of deciding several constitutional questions. These include the impeachability of acts committed by the Governor before he took office and the question whether the use of campaign contributions given without restriction constitutes larceny.

May Finish Saturday.

These matters, it is likely, will be decided either Saturday or Tuesday in executive session, after which the doors will be thrown open and the public admitted to hear the vote on the verdict.

Louis Marshall, for the defense, and Alton B. Parker, for the assembly managers, occupied the session of the court today. Marshall impeached the motives of those who brought the charges against the Governor as based on "passion and caprice". Parker denounced the Governor as one whom the "uncontradicted proofs" showed as no longer "fit to be the chief executive of this State."

"The Governor knew," Judge Parker said, "that when he signed the statement of campaign contributions placed before him by his secretary, Louis Sarecky, that the statement was untrue. It does not help him for the boy Sarecky to say he did the best he could. His master, William Sulzer, knew it was a lie."

Scathing Address.

Louis Marshall devoted several scathing pages of his address to the testimony of Duncan W. Peck, superintendent of public works, who swore that Governor Sulzer had asked him to deny under oath that he had given a $500 contribution. Marshall declared that his story was a "brazen counterfeit" and accused Peck of having a strong motive for so testifying because John A. Hennessy, the Governor's special investigator, had unearthed "irregularities of a serious nature" in Peck's department. He said that Peck's testimony "would enable him to aid in the destruction of the man who had set in motion the investiga-

Maj. John D. Shaw Died Yesterday

Rockingham, N. C., Oct. 9.—Maj. John D. Shaw, Richmond county's first citizen, is dead. The end came this morning after only a few hours' illness following an attack of indigestion which came on after dinner yesterday. Having given 80 years of service to his fellows, the Major faced the final summons with that bravery which has marked his entire career. He died "in harness" as it were, fully conscious to the moment in which was made his response to the last call.

Born June 26th, 1833, Major Shaw's early years were spent within 20 miles of Rockingham. He received his early education at an old-fashioned country school, applying himself industriously to his studies at home before entering the University of North Carolina in 1850. Four years later he was graduated as an honor man from this institution. After his graduation Major Shaw entered Judge Pearson's famous law school at Richmond Hill. Receiving his license in 1857, he became a member of the Richmond county bar, his first steps in the profession giving promise that he would rapidly climb to its leadership.

In 1861, hearing the call of his mother State to do duty in her behalf the young lawyer whose professional future seemed so bright, met the sacrifice and entered into the service of his State and Southland. Without previous military training his mettle was soon proven and when the war was over he was mustered out a major.

In 1866, Major Shaw moved to Texas to practice his profession. Three successful years were spent there, during the greater portion of which time he was a partner of Judge Ochiltree, father of the famous Texas Congressman of that name. In 1869, however, the alluring voice of his native State called him back to her.

Locating at Lincolnton, he became associated with Col. John F. Hoke, father of the late Gen. Hoke. In 1876 he gave up his portion of the firm's lucrative practice to return to his native county of Richmond.

For the greater part of 40 years Major Shaw has been division counsel of the Seaboard Air Line railway, beginning when that road was known as the old Carolina Central. Though always loyal to his client, his person-

EPISCOPAL CHURCH RULES ON DIVORCE

Want Amendment Prescribing What Constitutes Valid Marriage.

AGAINST "NE TEMERE" DECREE

North and South Carolina and Georgia Ask for Special Missionary District to be Created for Negroes.

New York, Oct. 9.—Proposed church legislation on marriage and divorce occupied the attention of the House of Deputies today at the Triennial General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal church.

Discussion of the ne temere promulgation of the Roman Catholic church regarding marriage between Catholics and non-Catholics led to a suggestion on the floor that the Episcopal Church agitate before Congress a constitutional amendment prescribing definitely what shall constitute validity of marriage in this country.

The Rev. Mr. W. J. Ashton, of Olean, N. Y., offered a resolution, that a special commission be appointed to consider the whole subject of marriage and "especially on the grounds of assumed authority of the Church of Rome to declare that only those marriages are valid which are contracted according to the terms of the 'ne temere' decree so far as the operation of said decree affects members of this communion."

The suggestion that the church seek enactment of an amendment to the United States constitution was formally made by Dr. Ashton after discussion of the matter. The resolution and the Ashton amendment were referred to the committee on canons.

Several other important resolutions were introduced and referred to committees. One would authorize an appeal to be made to publishers and authors to eradicate alleged erroneous teachings contained in books used in public schools.

The House of Deputies today voted in favor of choosing the presiding Bishop by election. This office now is held by the senior Bishop. The House of Bishops must concur to pass the amendment. The diocese of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia asked the House today that a special missionary district be created for negroes with a bishop in charge.

STILL NO QUORUM.

Impossible to Get Congressmen to Answer Roll Call—University Day.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—For the third successive day the House found itself without a quorum today, and action on the urgent deficiency bill, carrying appropriations for the examination of fourth-class postmasters in North Carolina and elsewhere, as well as Senator Overman's resolution taking deputy collectors and marshals from under the protecting wing of the civil service, thus allowing Democrats to be named in their places, was again delayed.

Representatives Doughton, Gudger and Small failed to answer to their names at the various roll calls today. Representative Webb, who had been home and yesterday wired the sergeant-at-arms of the House that he was not well, reached Washington this morning. Only three North Carolina members are now absent: Doughton, Small and Gudger. In the meantime Republican officeholders are drawing Democratic money for Federal jobs, and the faithful followers of Democracy wait outside the pie room.

Sergeant-at-Arms Gordon is doing everything in his power to have Democratic members return. Tom Bell, of Georgia, the Democratic whip, has no power in the matter. He can request members to return to Washington, but further than this, his rights in the matter ended when the House met Tuesday and found that no quorum could be had. The sergeant-at-arms will now arrest any member whom he finds who refuse to return to Washington and remain until a vote is taken on the important legislation now being delayed because members who receive $7,500 a year persist in leaving Washington at a time when they are most needed.

The alumni of the University of North Carolina will hold an informal reception at the new Ebbitt House Saturday night in honor of University day. Dr. R. O. Davis has the affair in charge. P. R. A.

LOWERS WORLD RECORD.

Trots Mile in 1.54 1-2—Beating Own Record.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 9.—Uhlan, the world's champion trotter, owned by C. K. G. Billings, today lowered the world's record for a mile to 1.54 1-2.

Uhlan set the previous record at 1.58 last year, the horse on both attempts against time being accompanied by a running mate.

Uhlan today was driven by Charles Tanner and was favored with a perfect track and beautiful weather conditions and was cheered rousingly. Trotting in magnificent form he made the quarters in .28 3-4, .57 1-4; 1.25 1-4 and 1.54 1-2.

Cheeney captured the Transylvania stake for 2.08 trotters, the feature of the Grand Circuit today. Cheeney's best time was made in the third heat when she trotted the mile in 2.04 3-4, equalling her own record.

In the 2.08 class pace, carried over from yesterday, Michigan Queen won the fourth and final heat, in 2.03 3-4. The 2.17 pace was won in straight heats by A. C. McKendries' Vasterus.

The 2.02 pace went over until tomorrow after Charles A had won the first heat, J. W. Wilkerson and Hydric the third and fourth.

BOTH HOUSES BUSY IN LEGISLATURE

Lower Branch Passes Final Constitutional Amendment Proposals.

ADJOURNED FOR THE CIRCUS

Whole Scheme of Convict Work In State Discussed at Length—Many Local Bills Through the Mill Yesterday.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 9.—The House tonight by a vote of 80 to 14 passed on third reading the bill of proposals as reported by the committee of the whole for amending the constitution.

Mr. Bowie, of Ashe, directed an attack against the taxation feature. Mr. Justice, of Guilford, shoved in an amendment providing for the initiative and referendum. Mr. Clark, of Pitt, wanted the mileage of members to be straight two and a half cents. Mr. Page, of Moore, wanted the poll tax feature not mandatory. Mr. Haymore, of Surry, wanted to let a man vote without paying poll tax. Mr. Dowd, of Mecklenburg, wanted to abolish the homestead exemption in certain cases, and others wanted other things. Mr. Graham, of Granville, wanted to make the pay of legislators $5 a day. All these were voted down in the round up.

A number of representatives spoke briefly, including Mr. Williams, of Cabarrus; Mr. Clark, of Pitt; Mr. Dowd, and others. The House was in session from 8 until 11.

The Senate in session tonight passed many local bills including the following: Regulate killing and selling of calves for veal in Caldwell county; establish recorder's court for Currituck county; establish county court for Wilson; amend the charter of the Salisbury and Coast Line Railroad Company; amend the fishing laws of Duplin county; amend the act as to the Board of Health in New Hanover; amend the law as to pay of commissioners in Haywood county; amend the act of 1913 relative to judgment of non suit so as to extend it to courts of justices of the peace; joint resolution for extra pay to principal clerks of the General Assembly for the special session; provide $500 for additional clerical help in the State library; increase the salary of the paymaster general of the North Carolina National Guard from $500 to $1,000; add Craven, Chowan, Tyrrell and Onslow to those counties empowered to designate banks or trust companies as county treasurers; bill to transfer the control of the State hospital for tuberculosis at Montrose from the board of trustees to the State Board of health and enable the State board to conduct a campaign of education as to treatment and prevention of tuberculosis among the people of the State; amend the act of 1913 as to the sale of merchandise in bulk.

The Senate discussed until nearly midnight the State's policy as to working convicts, the working of convicts on railroads for stock and the Gannah bill for getting convicts on the Haywood county roads and the bill by Evans, of Bladen, providing a general system of working convicts on the roads of the State. The Gannah bill for Haywood was lost on second reading through President Daughteridge breaking a tie vote with "no." The Evans bill passed its readings with material amendments on a vote of 20 to 11.

An amendment by Pharr fixes $1 as the minimum per convict counties can be required to pay. Another amendment makes the counties getting convicts pay transportation one way. Another gives to the Council of State instead of the State Board of Geological Survey the power to direct the prison authorities to supply the convicts demanded by counties. Also there was a committee amendment adopted, that stipulates that the present agreements by which convicts are being furnished to the various railroads are specified. Those now receiving this aid shall not be interfered with.

In the long discussion the bill elicited, the whole status of the convict system was gone into.

Day Session.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 9.—The circus proved too great a temptation for the House to resist today and that body adjourned at noon to meet again tonight to finish its work on the constitutional amendments. The House could probably have adjourned within two days, but will have to wait on the Senate, so that final adjournment will hardly come before Monday or Tuesday.

In committee of the whole, the House finally adopted the poll tax section to the satisfaction of the majority today when it authorized the placing in the constitution a provision making it mandatory to levy $2 for State and county purposes and authorizing cities and towns to levy a similar amount. The total poll tax for all purposes shall not exceed $4. The matter came up early and Mr. Doughton reported the substitute as the unanimous action of the reference committee.

Mr. Haymore, of Surry, wanted to leave the matter of levying a poll tax to the General Assembly, but was voted down. Then the substitute was adopted, 74 to 47.

The bill to allow the road trustees of Morganton township, Burke county, to cut a road through the grounds of the two State institutions there was passed after a vigorous protest on the part of Mr. Roberts, of Buncombe; Mr. Koonce, of Onslow, and a statement by Mr. Kellum that the House did not have sufficient knowledge to act. Mr. Mull explained the bill as necessary to road improvement in Morganton township, saying that it would have the effect, if not passed,

SPECULATORS IN TOILS

Sixteen Ticket Vendors Were Arrested Outside Grounds and Give Fines—Matter to be Investigated.

New York, Oct. 9.—Sixteen speculators were arrested outside the Polo Grounds this afternoon and one of them, according to the police, had in his possession 150 $2 seats. Each was fined $10 for violation of the city ordinance against soliciting the sale of tickets.

District Attorney Whitman has determined to settle at once and for all the story that through irregularities world's series tickets fell into the hands of speculators every time such a contest is staged in New York City. Next Wednesday the matter will be laid before the grand jury.

St. John B. Foster, secretary of the po New York National League club, held ha conference today with the District per ttorney, after which he issued a pres tement denying that he had said fect t any tickets for the present series He been secured by speculators the ough the hands of city employes. mor the form of an affidavit he issued te nother statement explaining how the 8,000 odd reserved seats had been disposed of, appending a list of persons to whom they had been distributed.

He added that those $2 seats (unreserved) which had gone out in advance had been delivered with the sanction of the National Commission to President Charles H. Ebbetts, of the Brooklyn club and to a few other persons whose requests for reserved seats could not be fully met. Mr. Ebbetts, he said, subscribed for 450 of these seats for each game.

A. & M. FOOTBALL.

Week of Hard Practice in Anticipation of Saturday's Game.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

West Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 9.—Despite the bad weather the A. & M. football team went through a week of hard practice in preparation for the game with the Virginia Medical College here Saturday. The practice, consisting of falling on the ball, running down under punts, etc., is terminated generally by a few minutes of stiff scrimmage, and the 'Varsity squad is showing up better every day, especially in their interference. The game last Saturday with the Franklin gave the coaches a chance to size up nearly every man on the squad, as there were 23 men in the game, and nearly all of them did well.

The Medical College team is reported to be very strong this year. The Red and White only defeated the Medicos by one touchdown last year and reports from Richmond say that the Doctors are stronger this year than last, Walker, all-American tackle, who was a tower of strength in their line last year being captain of the team, and in addition they have two all-South Atlantic men on the team, and a large number of other college stars.

The Techs expect a big fight next Saturday, and this will be a good chance to get the comparative strength of the Red and White with Washington and Lee and the University, the Meds having already played these two teams.

The coaches are very much encouraged with the work of the team in Saturday's game, and in the practice this week.

CARDS WON.

Defeated St. Louis Browns One to Nothing.

St. Louis, Oct. 9.—The Nationals defeated the Americans 1 to 0 today in the opening game of the series to decide the city championship. Whitted got a pass, took third on a wild throw by Weilman and crossed the plate with the only score on Wingo's out.

"Home Run" Baker in the Act!

This photograph shows J. Franklin Baker living up to his name in the fifth inning of the first game Tuesday afternoon, when he knocked the ball into the rightfield grandstand for a home run, driving Eddie Collins home ahead of him.

RUBE MARQUARD SENDS A BOQUET TO BUSH

"Tesreau Had the Shakes Like I Had Tuesday"—Spitter Easy.

PICKS DEMAREE FOR TODAY

"Demaree Had Been Told That Mackmen Could Not Hit a Spitter, But Believe Me, They Did."

BY "RUBE" MARQUARD,
Star Giant Twirler.

They let Jeff's fast ball go by and slugged his spitter. This was something that we did not expect. They told us the Athletics could not hit the moist ball. Well, they certainly rapped Tesreau to a finish. I cannot say whether or not the Athletics could tell by Jeff's wind-up motion when he intended to pitch a spitter and when a fast one, but it looked as though they had the dope. They called him nearly every time, and they layed for that spitter.

"Had the Shakes."

Now, mind you, I am a good friend of Tesreau's and I believe that he will show the goods for McGraw, if not in this series, then next season. Trouble with Jeff was he had an attack of shakes, same as I had in the opening battle. No use denying this. Tesreau simply could not win with his spitter against these fellows. If he were able to break this moist ball out or in like Ford could in 1908 he'd be the greatest spit-ball pitcher in the world. But today he was able to oblige it and the Athletics, waiting for this ball, just naturally "golfed" it all over the course.

For example, you take that first inning. "Rube" Oldring came up after Eddie Murphy had been retired and I must say that Murphy is one swell lead-off man. He appears to be equally good on dumping the ball, hitting it out or waiting. Oldring connected with a spitter and he let two fast ones go by. He wised up immediately, holding on until Jeff's spitter came over, breaking down, and he sliced it clean to right. Collins was standing right back of Oldring and no doubt saw what came off for he did the same thing. He saw that Jeff could not break that spitter excepting in one direction and when Tesreau shot over a high one with saliva on it Collins busted it fair.

Jeff was worried now. We could see that from the bench. We kept yelling at him but, say, it don't do any good to yell at a man when he is out there in the box and hasn't the stuff. Baker followed up Collins and slammed a high spitter outside into leftfield. Why, say, they were all set for Jeff's best ball and they killed it.

Jeff was so unnerved with this blast of hits that he failed to watch the runners and away came a double steal, engineered by Collins. And right here I'll take off my hat to this fellow. He is the brains of the Athletics. Although Danny Murphy is captain it is really Collins who pulls the stuff. He made this kid Bush, win today. You couldn't hear Collins on the stands but on the bench we heard him talking every minute of the game. "Don't you be afraid of the Giants, Joe, you have everything today, boy; you'll be a second Babe Adams after this." That's the kind of stuff he was telling this Bush and it helped a lot.

It helped a lot because Bush really did have everything, while Tesreau, a good friend of mine, did not have the goods to beat these fellows.

It did not do any good for us to encourage Tesreau because every time he anointed that ball they gave it a ride. Another bad feature of Jeff's pitching was that when Fletcher fielded Amos Strunk's hot one in the first the ball was so wet that Fletcher fired it over Merkle's head and two men scored. Fletcher said when he came to the bench that the pill felt as though it had "tumbled overboard," and Tesreau admitted he had more than the usual amount of dope on the ball.

When Collins made his triple in the seventh, he, also, whanged at a high spitter, although he should have had only a double on it. Murray misjudged the ball when it carooned off the right bulwarks, the first time he ever made that mistake.

That's about enough for us. I'd like to say something about this American League club. Somebody tipped us that Mack's men were not as good as in 1911. They look better to me. We thought that a bunch of young fellows and old fellows would not be able to hook up together in one season. It looks now as if Danny Murphy, Collins and Barry got talking to these kids and told them some baseball and put confidence in them. They play now as though they were sure of winning every game.

Bush Cool.

Bush is one of the greatest young pitchers I ever saw. He is as cool as ice. He took his time from the moment that he stepped in the box, and in contrast Tesreau was hurried, just like I the other day. That infield had him steadied up. Baker and McInnis had not much to say but Collins was in there with the heart stuff all the while.

Collins "It."

Collins kept life in the game. His eyes are never shut. And he never quits on himself. I don't know where this Bush comes from but he is there. McGraw thought he could make him blow-up in the first when Doyle got on with a single and Fletcher was hit by a pitched ball. McGraw and Robby went after the kid and roasted him, but nothing doing. He outguessed Burns and from then on he outguessclub stockholders have cause for complaint since to date 93,750 spectators have paid $200,658.50 for the privilege of seeing the Athletics score 14 runs to the Giants 9 in three games. Of this sum the players have already $108,355.59 accruing to their accounts the owners of each club $36,118.53, and the National commission $20,065.85.

The Details.

Connie Mack had both Bush and Shawkey warming up for the game, but by the way the former was shooting them it was not hard to detect that Bush was the first choice of the Philadelphia manager. Big Jeff Tesreau got an encouraging cheer as he went to the box.

First a Strike.

Eddie Murphy, first up for the Athletics, watched the first strike shoot across the plate. Tesreau's second offering was a ball and the third he sent down was driven right at Fletcher, who threw Murphy out by an eye lash. Oldring, after a strike, a foul and a ball, laced out a clean single to center.

Baker.

After taking two strikes, Collins hit to centerfield and Oldring stopped at third base. Then came the walloper, Baker. Tesreau's first two pitches to him were strikes below Baker's knees. The next ball just suited the home-run hitter and he smashed a hard single to left field, scoring Oldring. Collins went to second. Collins and Baker worked the double steal, McLean dropping the ball at the plate. McInnis struck out, McLean missing the third strike and throwing him out. Strunk shot a grounder at Fletcher, who threw over Merkle's head, allowing both Collins and Baker to score. Barry ended the inning by sending a high fly to Fletcher.

Leslie Bush was given a cheer when he ascended the hurling mound. Getting two strikes on Herzog, Bush pitched three bad balls. Herzog sent the next one to Barry who threw him out at first. Doyle rammed a sharp hit at Bush who could not field the ball in time to catch Doyle. Fletcher was hit by a pitched ball, Doyle moving to second. Burns sent a sharp fly to Collins, who doubled up Doyle trying to get back to second.

Another Rally.

Two were out in the American Leaguers' second inning before they started another batting rally. Schang struck out and Bush sent a high fly to Murray. Murphy hit sharply to Fletcher and beat out the throw. Oldring then came to time with his second single, the ball shooting out to right field and Murphy raced around to third base. Oldring stole second. Collins sent a smoking drive into center field and Murphy and Oldring deposited two more runs at the plate. Baker smashed a terrific drive which Doyle managed to get after a great effort and forced Collins at second for third out.

In New York's half of the second inning Shafer trickled a slow bounder to Collins and was tossed out. Collins caught Murray's fly. McLean sent up a high foul to Schang.

The visitors went out easily and quickly in the third inning. McInnis and Strunk both gave Burns chances, which he accepted, getting both their high flies. Barry fouled out to McLean.

It was also one, two, three for the home club in the third. Merkle lifted a high fly to Strunk. Tesreau went out on strikes. Herzog shot a drive into Collins' hands.

There was not much to the fourth inning for either side. Schang went out for the second time by the strike-out route. Bush hit to left field for a single. Burns made a hard run to get up to the ball, but he only managed to scoop it up after it struck the ground. Murphy raised a high fly to Shafer and Oldring went out Doyle to Merkle.

For New York Doyle fouled out to Baker, but Fletcher ripped a single over second base. Burns struck out. With Shafer up, Fletcher got a good lead and stole second. Shafer was an easy out at first on Collins' throw.

In the fifth Collins hit a foul into the right field stand. He then went out on a hard drive to Murray. Baker put up a high fly to Fletcher and McInnis was the third out on a fly to Murray.

Tesreau's pitching was good and he was given a hand as he went to the bench.

Giants Start.

The champions got into the run column in their half of the fifth. Murray drew a base on balls and stole second cleanly. Schang in trying to head him off threw the ball into centerfield and Murray hot-footed to third. The crowd cheered this first real break in the defense. McLean hit a terrific drive that Baker could not stop and Murray scored. Cooper was sent into run for McLean and after Merkle sent up a fly to Murphy the substitute runner made a fine steal of second base. Tesreau went out Baker to McInnis, Cooper moving to third. Herzog chopped the ball in front of the plate. Schang pounced on it and threw it.

Wilson went in to catch for New York. Strunk the first man up in the sixth, flied out to Burns. Barry singled to right. Wilson took Schang's high foul and Bush raised a fly to Doyle.

The New Yorkers were quickly killed off in their half of the sixth. McInnis picked up Doyle's grounder and touched first. Fletcher worked the pitcher for a base on balls. Burns hit to Bush, who threw to Barry, forcing Fletcher at second, and Burns was out at first on the Philadelphian's quick throw.

Tesreau's End.

The seventh inning saw the end of Tesreau. Murphy opened up with a drive to rightfield for a single but was forced at second on Oldring's smash to Fletcher, Doyle making the out. After fouling several balls, Collins hit a terrific smash that struck the rightfield wall and he flashed around the bases to third, Oldring scoring. Baker brought Collins home on a third hit single to centerfield. Crandall relieved Tesreau at this stage. McInnis, the first man to face the new pitcher, drove a liner into Doyle's hands and the latter touched second, doubling up Baker.

New York got its second and last run in the seventh by Shafer slashing a two-base hit into leftfield and Murray's single in the same direction on which the former scored.

Wilson then struck out. Schang whipped the ball down to second and got Murray, completing a double play. Collins took the throw. Merkle was given a base on balls and Wiltse went in to run for him. Crandall went out, Collins to McInnis.

Merkle Replaced.

Wiltse went to first base in Merkle's place when the eighth opened. Neither Strunk nor Barry could do anything with Crandall's pitching. Both hit weakly to the reserve pitcher, who threw them out at first. Schang then gave the ball a mighty wallop which sent it into the rightfield stand for a home run. It was as long as any of Baker's home runs on the Polo Grounds and as the young catcher went to the Athletic bench Baker ran out and warmly shook his hand. Bush ended the inning by striking out.

New York went out in order in the eighth. Herzog sent a fly to Baker. Doyle's grounder was scooped up by McInnis at first. Fletcher fouled out to Schang.

The crowd started to leave the grounds as Murphy came to bat in the ninth. Murphy flied to Murray. Oldring went out on a foul fly to Herzog and Collins raised a fly to Shafer.

For the Giants in the ninth inning Burns flied out to Murphy. Shafer waited for four bad balls and was forced at second when Murray grounded to Barry, who tossed the ball to Collins for the out. Wilson ended the game by sending a high foul to Baker.

From Brainerd, Minn.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 9.—One hundred and six enthusiastic citizens of Brainerd gathered at the telegraph office this afternoon and signed their names to the following telegram to their fellow townsman, Leslie Bush:

"The undersigned extend our hearty congratulations for your victory today and also the work of your side partner, Bender, both of Brainerd. The old town is and will be, wide open in celebration—'You know how.' An invitation is extended to you and Bender to come to Brainerd as soon as released when the celebration will be completed."

Athletics Reach Home.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—The victorious Athletics arrived here shortly before 10 o'clock tonight on a special train from New York and were given a rousing reception by a crowd of several hundred fans when they left the train.

Bush and Schang, who formed the battery that aided so materially in the Giants' defeat today, were the heroes of the hour. Nearly all of the enthusiastic Athletic supporters made a rush to shake hands with these young players but Bush and Schang stepped into a taxicab and escaped. Manager Mack, "Chief" Bender and other players also were forced to hustle into their automobiles to get away from the crowd.

A short time before the arrival of the Athletics, Manager McGraw arrived with his squad of National League pennant winners. Despite their defeat today, all hands seemed not the least bid downcast and went direct to their hotel where they retired early in preparation for the fourth struggle tomorrow for supremacy in the baseball world. No word was forthcoming from the Giants' leader as to who would be his pitching choice for tomorrow's game.

It is believed generally that Bender will twirl for the Athletics.

SESSIONS OF N. C. SYNOD

Christian Education a Special Order—Drs. Moore and Martin Speakers—Other Proceedings of Yesterday.

(By Mamie Bays.)

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 9.—Rev. L. S. Chafer conducted the opening devotional exercises of the fourth day of the North Carolina Synod in session here this morning and following preliminary business the first special order for the day was taken up—Christian Education.

Dr. W. J. Martin, president of Davidson College, presented a paper about which discussion centered. Dr. Martin spoke first of the conference on Christian Education which the General Assembly at its meeting in Atlanta ordered to be held and then spoke of the work of the conference held at Montreat during the Summer in which a large number of Christian educators took part. The action of that conference, he said, had been compiled in resolutions which would be presented to the General Assembly in 1914.

Dr. Martin then spoke of an association of Presbyterian schools and colleges in North Carolina which had been organized during this session of the Synod. Dr. Martin is president of that association, and Rev. C. G. Vardell, D. D., is secretary. Speaking then of the importance of the work of Christian Education, Dr. Martin said that the desire is first to urge the church to a greater realization of Christian Education, not theoretically only but practically as well; second, to place the interest of Christian education upon the same plane as that occupied by the other great causes of the church; third, that the cause of Christian Education be placed upon a plane where it will receive co-equal claim upon the purses of the church in its support that is given to the other great causes of the church.

He then emphasized the fact that the association of schools and colleges in presenting these recommendations desires that it be distinctly understood that the Presbyterian church is not opposed to the public school system of the State and the State University, but that the commonwealth cannot look to State schools for the spiritual training of the youth of the State, and that it devolves upon the church to give this training and keep the Bible in its rightful place in the work of education.

The report presented by Dr. Martin recommended also that each Presbytery in the Synod once a year, at the Fall or Spring meeting hold a conference on this subject of Christian Education and that an address on this subject be delivered and that this feature of the meeting of the Presbyteries be incorporated as one of the standing rules.

Request was made also that the cause of schools and colleges be included in the budget of all the churches and in such proportion as will materially assist the schools and colleges in meeting their current expenses. Dr. Martin announced that he desired an expression of opinion from members of the Synod regarding the resolutions, but that first he desired the Synod to hear Rev. Walter W. Moore, D. D., of Richmond, on this subject.

No speaker is heard with greater interest or profit on the floor of the Synod than Dr. Moore. His relation to the cause of Christian Education as president of the Union Theological Seminary peculiarly fits him to speak on Christian Education. He said that in North Carolina there are more Presbyterians than in any other State in the South and that in North Carolina Presbyterians have had more to do with making this commonwealth what it is than is true of any other State in the South. He then stated that the time had come for the church to place larger emphasis than ever and that while this interest has not been neglected in the past, yet the church has not fully found herself educationally. He then said that he believed the Lord is calling upon the Synod of North Carolina to recover her lost primacy in the cause of education, because as a church the advancement made in this work has not been in keeping with the history and the historic ideals of the church demand. This fact, he said, he feared was due to some extent to the cross-purpose that has crept into the work at times, to emphasis that has been placed upon local ideas and to the friendly rivalry that has entered into it.

"It is to be doubted," he said, "whether we as Presbyterians know our educational assets. We possess a fragmentary knowledge, but it is doubtful if we possess anything more in this connection. The Presbyterian church dos not realize the confidence other people place in her regarding the great work of education, but this confidence exists and it is the duty of the church to put her schools of every kind at the top of the list. We have the capital and the resources and we need to develop the confidence of our people in our methods. Christian sentiment controls the work of State institutions of learning in many commonwealths but we cannot count upon this fact for the moral and religious training of the future."

Dr. Moore then gave the following interesting statistics in support of the argument for Christian institutions of learning. Ninety-three per cent. of all the home missionaries under the boards of the church are graduates of Christian colleges and 85 per cent. of all foreign missionaries of the church sent out during the past five years have been graduates of Christian colleges; 84 per cent. of all the candidates for the ministry in the church have come from Christian colleges. He then said the church is not ungrateful for what the State colleges are doing but that what they are doing does not relieve the church of her responsibility and if the church awakes fully to the realization of her responsibility and maintains Christian schools she cannot continue to maintain her supply of workers.

Following the address of Dr. Moore a score of the members of the Synod spoke briefly of the resolutions before the body.

Rev. Byron Clark, D. D., of Salisbury, expressed pleasure that in all the friction which has existed from time to time between different religious denominations, at no time has the Presbyterian church been involved in the same. Rev. T. E. Shives made a motion that the moderator appoint an ad interim committee to formulate a classification of the schools and colleges of the Synod and a plan of co-operation upon which they can do most effective work and report their action to the next meeting of the Synod. This motion was adopted. The resolution as read by Dr. Martin from the association of schools and colleges, were then adopted.

The consideration of Barium Springs Orphanage was the special order for 11 o'clock. Just previous to this a brief recess was taken.

During the afternoon session of the Synod the first interest that claimed the attention of the members was the report of the permanent committee on systematic beneficence, which was adopted, including the recommendation that elders and deacons' conventions be held each year; that Presbyterial committees on systematic beneficence present the new plan to every church where it is practicable, and that churches now receiving aid from the home mission treasury be instructed that they will receive no further aid after the close of the present ecclesiastical year until they have adopted and put into effect the new plan for an every-member canvass for beneficence.

The report of the committee on Sabbath school and young people's work was submitted and adopted, W. C. Smith, of Richmond, speaking to the same.

This was followed by a popular meeting in the interest of the Sabbath and family religion. Rev. W. D. Morton, D. D., of Rocky Mount, presided and submitted the report of the committee on that subject and Rev. R. A. White, of Henderson, delivered the address. Dr. W. J. Martin submitted the report of the committee on Synodical schools and colleges, which was adopted.

This evening a popular meeting in the interest of Synodical home missions was held, Rev. McG. Shields, superintendent of this work, presided and addresses were delivered by Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., of Wilmington, and others.

The report of Mr. Shields showed that during the past year $10,706 has been contributed to Synodical home missions.

This meeting marked the 25th anniversary on the work of Synodical home missions in North Carolina and the report for the 25 years showed that during this time 15 counties in the State have been entered, 81 churches have been organized, 115 Sabbath schools have been organized. There have been 24,643 professions of faith in the State as the result of Synodical home missions work and 12,966 added to the Presbyterian church. The average number of professions of faith each year has been 962 and the average number of additions to the church has been 538.

Hickory was selected as the place for the meeting of Synod next year. Red Springs and Gastonia were also placed in nomination.

SOUTHPORT NEWS.

First Monday Meetings, Court and Other Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., Oct. 9.—The County Commissioners at their meeting this week, had to give a good deal of time to hearing citizens from the section between Shallotte and the South Carolina line on the question of what line, between these points, the good road should follow, for which bonds were voted, issued and sold, and only the course that is to be taken remains to be determined before work can be started and the road constructed. A number of delegates were before the board and were heard. The two courses advocated are known as the "straight" road and the "crooked" road. After hearing as many as possible on the matter, the commissioners decided that the issue be settled by the voters, and ordered that an election for this purpose be held at Shallotte on October 21st.

The commissioners also voted to give five cash prizes in sums of $25, $20, $15, $10 and $5, to be awarded the Boys' Corn Clubs of Brunswick county, as each club shall prove its right to a prize for corn grown in 1913. These prizes have nothing to do with any prizes offered by the State Agricultural Department.

There is an effort being made to have the commissioners secure for Brunswick a county farm demonstrator, as a good many other counties now have. Those interested in this movement believe that if the commissioners would vote, say $350, and the same amount could be secured from the State Agricultural Department, that this sum would be enough to employ a good man as demonstrator, and the expenditure would result most advantageously to advance the farm improvement work in the county.

The commissioners to further the Governor's efforts in making a success in Brunswick county November 5th and 6th, designated by the Governor as Good Roads Days in North Carolina, have issued a circular, calling attention to the proclamation and asking all citizens of the county to turn out and assist in the work on those days.

In striking contrast to the reports of the very short supply of menhaden to be found along the North Carolina coast this season, causing heavy losses to those engaged in this fishing, are the reports of this fish to be found on this section of the coast, and further south, the menhaden being seen in immense quantities.

Southport is experiencing the same over-crowded school conditions that are being found in so many towns in this State. In the High School here, two additional rooms are needed, and to secure these the Civic Club has volunteered its services in a financial way. A very bright and excellent suggestion was offered by a local school enthusiast, that on an appointed day, favorable, of course, to assure greater success, every one who could, go fishing and the entire catch be contributed to the school building purposes.

It is, of course, an individual question, that of Sunday fishing, but to the fellow who does not go, it always appears as if Sunday fishing gave far greater returns. Last Sunday, as an instance of such luck, one fisherman on the steamer Wilmington caught 35 blackfish in the short time that the steamer was on the banks. Imagine the feelings of the man reading this, who loves fishing, but from "choice" instead of going fishing, accompanied his wife to church.

The county board of education at its October meeting, among other business transacted, made two new school districts in Waccamaw township, both white. The one in the Makatokah section takes in the Waccamaw Lumber camp. A new school district was made from parts of districts seven and eight in Town Creek township, this new district includes Lanvale, where there is a handsome school house, the personal property of Dr. E. G. Goodman, who leases the building to the board of education, without charge to the county, until the board can provide another. Reports from all sections of the county indicate a spirit for improvement, particularly as to school buildings and grounds.

Amateurs Defeat Billiard Champion.

Messrs. S. L. Schulken and R. J. Snead last night defeated Mr. J. T. Malone, the world's ex-champion billiard player, in a game of pocket billiards at Struther's Cigar Store, the score being 100 to 99. At one time the score stood 94 to 58 in favor of Mr. Malone. Mr. Schulken made high run with 27 balls against Mr. Malone's run of 21 and Mr. Snead's run of 16 balls. Mr. Snead's run of 16 completed the game which was for 100 points. The time of the game was two hours and five minutes. Several hundred spectators witnessed the contest.

MAJ. JOHN D. SHAW DIED

al honor and integrity have through the years been a shining light. Faithful to his friends, always true to the highest even when a battle royal was to be fought, Major Shaw long since established himself as one of the biggest men the Pee Dee section has produced, as a power for civic righteousness throughout the entire State.

Major Shaw was married in 1858 to Miss Margaret B. Henderson. To this union there were born five children, Jno. D. Shaw, Jr., who before his death five years ago distinguished himself in the legal profession; Angus B. Shaw, a prominent planter of Scotland county, who also died a few years ago. Surviving are A. C. Shaw, formerly law officer for the United States General Land office, now practicing his profession at Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Henry Fairly, and Miss Esdale Shaw, of this city. Major Shaw was a devout member of the Episcopal church, being in great way responsible for the founding of the Church of the Messiah in this city. Friday, October 10, 1913.

The silent vote and the pass are inseparable.

The Hon. John Lind is still on the job—exceedingly still.

Lots of folks think they are right, but it is because they do not think right.

If it's a North Carolina baby girl, how is it possible that it could be a better baby?

The average orator doesn't "pause for a reply." He does it to give applause a chance.

Well, Christy put it all over them and nobody is disputing the fact that he is the most celebrated American of the hour.

Col. Bryan has reason to believe that when some people run out of ideas they think it is a good idea to criticise him.

Nothing feases Wilmington's optimism. Wilmington can hoe her own row, and keep right up with the man that made the hoe.

Since President Wilson has adopted a cautious policy looking to the independence of the Philippines, we move to amend by adding "and North Carolina."

The principal thing to wonder about when sneak bills are introduced is how the people happen to elect a number of sneaks when they choose a Legislature.

A San Francisco dispatch says Jack Brady, the notorious bandit and train robber, is to become a sculptor. That is only another way of chiseling people.

It is announced from Washington that "the government is short of money paper." It is hardly necessary to announce that most of us are short of paper money.

The white man who has gone into the laundry business with a Chinaman will have the satisfaction of doing business with a silent partner who will quietly keep on the job.

Even the hit interests know it is useless to howl over the new tariff bill. They seem to be willing to try to do business without the governments' aid in exploiting the people.

It is always a good idea to consult the will of the people rather than take chances on insulting the masses of the people. The only way to induce the people to believe what you do is to win them over by argument.

A woman's idea of exerting her will power on a man is to give him a look that will be understood without the utterance of a word to remove any lingering doubt. It is the same in Pennsylvania as it is in Virginia where men are perfectly dociliferous.

A newcomer who has located in Wilmington says he did so because it has more possibilities than any city he visited while seeking the best place with which to grow up. Wilmington ought to do its best to make 10,000 men see it that way, especially since nobody can dispute it.

Says the Jacksonville Times-Union: "There is still talk of McCombs as ambassador to France. Why doesn't Mac take it or leave it once for all?" Well, "all" would agree to that, and besides, they would give a good imitation of being receptive whether they could say beans or tres bien.

Says the Washington Post: "The endorsement of Oscar Straus for Congress by the Republicans may be only a part of a fiendish plan to assimilate the bull moose party one at a time." However, is it some nature faker playing a trick on the G. O. P. elephant by inducing it to swallow a bull mooser?

The Durham Herald takes this point of view: "While the railroads made the proposal, the people of the State have nothing to thank them for. They did not budge an inch until they were pushed." It wasn't their play. They waited till they could see North Carolina's hand and then they called the bluff with a 25 per cent divvy for the State and 75 per cent for the carriers.

RAILROAD VICTORY AS USUAL.

Both Houses of the General Assembly lost no time in passing the Young resolution sealing the freight rate bargain with the railroads on the terms of the railroads. In the General Assembly's acceptance of the compromise offered by the carriers the expected has happened. From the very start we have never expected any thing else from a Legislature elected in 1912. We felt confident that when the real fight reached the Legislature it was a safe bet that the State would do the crawling act, just as it has done by marching right up the hill and right down again into the camp of the railroads.

The resolution clinching the bargain with the railroads was passed. Nothing else was expected. The bait was swallowed whole and it would have been swallowed if it hadn't been whole. The bill for a separate public service commission was knocked in the head. If it should have had two heads it would surely have been knocked in both heads. The railroads didn't want another commission, and the General Assembly agreed with them. The railroads were anxious for their proposal to be accepted. It was accepted just as was expected. So far, the solution of the just freight rate problem is the solution of the railroads. It is their solution that has been accepted and the railroads are entitled to all the credit.

It is not quite clear yet what else has been done in settling the rate fight, except that the State has settled it like the railroads wanted it settled. The State Corporation Commission is retained, but the General Assembly was considerate enough to give it authority to employ a rate expert, secure more clerical help, and employ special attorneys when the commission takes a notion to do so. The Corporation Commission may do the best it can under these circumstances, and probably will, but as it is without adequate power it cannot be expected to do any more than it has been doing. That isn't much, but it is more the fault of the Legislature than it is the commission's. That commission cannot possibly do any more than the Legislature empowers it to do. The Legislature has never empowered it to do anything that would make it tired or make the railroads tired.

Yes, the Corporation Commission "was sustained," as one member puts it, but a measure to give it the same powers as were intended for the proposed public service corporation that died aborning, and to provide it with $6,000 with which to grease its gimlet, was all but laid on the table. It might have been worse, though, for it might have been laid under the table. However, the Legislature may yet do something to enable the Corporation Commission to keep from working both sides of the street. At any rate, the Corporation Commission can always manage to get back home when it goes anywhere, as the Legislature never took its railroad passes away from the commissioners and the commission attaches.

This is about all that can be said, except that it is somewhat paradoxial that the great State of North Carolina depends on the railroads to give free transportation to a commission that is expected to do something to the railroads. Good night!

WILMINGTON IS ALL RIGHT.

The action of the Legislature in accepting the terms of the railroads, leaving Wilmington no share of the twenty-five per cent. relief afforded interior points in the way of freight reductions, does not leave Wilmington high and dry, by any means. Wilmington has water transportation and can sooner or later rely upon the potentiality and the possibilities of the Cape Fear ocean gateway. The port has been left out in the cold by the Legislature and the railroads, acting in cahoot, but it is impossible that Wilmington can be held down indefinitely when it is considered that she can look forward to a 30-foot channel and a 40-foot bar.

The State-wide fight for just freight rates (about "just" what the railroads would concede) developed into a sectional compromise, and the State has ratified the purpose and plans of the railroads to prevent this port from being of any great service to North Carolina. However, the action of the Legislature only binds the State from taking further action against the railroads. The State has agreed to throw up its hands for two years and it seems to be glad to get off with that. The word of the State is pledged in a legislative pact to stand by the railroads and let them have their own way with the State's ocean gateway, but the action of the Legislature cannot bind any individual or community.

It will not prevent them from seeking relief in the State and Federal courts, but it does deny them the State's assistance and sympathy in their fight. It puts all the expense on the individual or the community that decides to fight discrimination. The Legislature has ratified the discrimination that enables freights to be hauled 228 miles from Norfolk to Wallace two cents per hundred pounds cheaper than it is hauled 38 miles from Wilmington to Wallace, but that abandonment of Wilmington by the State will not prevent Wilmington from appealing to the Inter-State Commerce Commission for relief from such rank and unjustifiable discrimination in favor of a distant port in another State.

At any rate, the Cape Fear ocean gateway is right here yet. It is floating ships that draw more than twenty-five feet of water, and the ocean carriers will feel more disposed than ever to come here and get a share of Wilmington's business. It is not likely that all the steamship companies will be in a combine, and it is safe to say that sooner or later they will be carrying freights at rates to suit themselves. Right now a representative of the Morse steamship interests is in Wilmington and has made a liberal offer to Wilmington to run a line of steamers to this port. The proposition is under advisement, and if the Wilmington interests approve it, there will be something doing. If this port is not to get the Morse steamers it can be depended upon that Wilmington will look better and better to others when the Panama canal traffic begins to increase Atlantic commerce and cause additions to the fleets of ocean steamships out for business.

OUR SOUTH AMERICAN NEIGHBORS.

Just like any other country that needs its resources developed, South America is experiencing the need of capital. It is because the South American countries are developing to such an extent that it is taxing their ability to borrow. South American advices to the New York Sun state that the Latin-American republics are having trouble in handling a threatened financial crisis. It is said Brazil is having both financial and commercial difficulties. Paraquay is slowly recovering from her last revolution. recovering from her last revolution. Uraquay is short of money and cannot get a loan in Europe because of her injudicious dealing with the money loaners of France and England. Argentina requires millions of money in her development and her commerce is at a low ebb. It is said of Chile and all the west coast States that they "are struggling along, waiting for the Panama canal."

This is not cheering on the eve of the opening of the Panama canal, but it is believed that the canal will prove a great relief to some or all of the Latin-American countries. They have the balance of trade against the United States at present. Even Chile does a commerce of $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a year with the port of Wilmington, but it is all in Chile's favor Wilmington takes her products but does not exchange any of North Carolina for them. We ought to have a fair exchange in a few years, and it will be good for that country as well as for this. The Sun's advices say:

"All South America depends on foreign capital and enterprise for its progress and prosperity. When for any reason financial assistance in the shape of loans and investments is not forthcoming it is thrown out of balance and forced to meet all the demands and requirements of the financiers of Europe, if it is to maintain its credit and standing in foreign countries."

When closer relations are established between the United States and South America it will enlarge the opportunities of American capitalists. In the meantime, the development of the South is making big demands upon them and they need not look for any better investments than they can find in the undeveloped but rapidly-developing South.

CANADIANS WANT A MARKET.

The Democratic tariff is about to do what President Taft's Republican reciprocity proposition failed to do. The Canadians rejected reciprocity, but the Democrats' tariff puts many articles on the free list when other countries do the same by American products. Dispatches from Ontario say the Western Canadians have started a movement among their grain associations to urge their government to abrogate the duties on wheat and flour in order to give Canadian producers an entry into the markets of the United States with their grain and flour, after the consequent removal of the countervailing duty. It seems to be up to the Canadians, and they like the idea.

The Thomasville (Ga.) Times-Enterprise is moved to remark: "A Virginia beauty swam a raging torrent with her sweetheart just to get married. Wonder what she would have dared for something really worth while?" That is to say, something like a North Carolinan who paddles his own canoe and lands his girl without having to take water.

The most powerful minority in America is composed of the few who have amassed millions by means of special privilege under Republican tariff legislation. The Underwood-Simmons bill put a stop to that, and that is its very best feature. It aims to put a stop to the privilege that enables men to amass immense fortunes by exploiting the masses.

CURRENT COMMENT.

It is evident that the railroads were afraid that the Legislature might be able to do something.—Durham Herald.

If Wilmington does not get relief from the Legislature she might handle it like she did a few years ago.—Durham Herald.

The Wilmington Star says Governor Craig will send us all to the roads on November 5th and 6th. So he will and all hands of us must take our medicine cheerfully. By the way, he has imposed the same sentence on himself.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The Better Babies Contest which seems to be growing in popularity in North Carolina strikes us as being directed along right lines. We need to get saturated more with a knowledge as to the development of the human body and these events may in the end serve to stimulate interest and disseminate precisely the sort of instruction that is needed. Almost anybody knows how to raise a shoat or a calf and the Department of Agriculture at Raleigh will make ample provision for those who are unlearned along this line. How much better is a man than a sheep?—Charlotte Chronicle.

It is unbecoming full grown men—this child's play being indulged in at Raleigh. Mr. E. J. Justice, who seems to be roasted whichever side he may turn to the fire, is called an unsafe leader by another member because he wants to stop short of lynching the railroads after they have met the State half way. In turn Mr. Justice retorts that maybe the aforesaid member did not ride on a free pass and charge the State $85 for it. Then there is the man who would have it intimated that Governor Craig is a hypocrite in that he is figuring on using his part in "the noble struggle" as a stepping-stone to the United States Senate. It will be recalled that at the beginning of the rate fight The Observer said the politicians were likely to spoil the whole thing by turning it to political capital. For this it was promptly reproved. But The Observer was right. The whole business has been so thoroughly chopped up and mixed in, however, that it is going to be difficult to use it as political capital. As a political asset, The Observer believes the rate fight is going to be a sorry one. It will prove a detriment to the legislator who is unwise enough to attempt to use it. "Told you so!" is what the candidate who sets it up as a claim will hear right off the bat.—Charlotte Observer.

PROGRESSIVE WILSON.

New Electric Light and Gas Plant—Other News Notes.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 9.—Two forward steps for this—one of the better towns in this section of the State—have been taken. The Board of Public Works has called for competitive bids, to be received November 4th, in the matter of equipment for the proposed new light and power plant. It is stated that bids will be received for both turbines and steam engines and the decision to be made after the receipt of bids. The board has received a number of letters from concerns using the turbine and it seems that this system is the more economical. The other forward step is the passage of the bill by the Legislature authorizing the issuance of bonds for the building of a municipal gas plant in Wilson. The board of town commissioners will arrange for the election to ratify the bonds at an early date.

The annual convention of the Wilson County Sunday School Association will be held at Rock Bridge November 15th and 16th. Arrangements are being made for several Sunday School experts and States officers who will also attend the convention.

Deputy Sheriff O. A. Glover went to Hampton, Va., yesterday after a negro, Arthur Strickland, wanted here for assault on Clay Patterson. Strickland was arrested in Hampton Tuesday. He was given a preliminary hearing at Elm City today.

Cards have been received in Wilson announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Mamie Doss Jennings to Mr. William A. Lucas. The happy event is to take place in the Tulip Street church, Nashville, Tenn., Wednesday evening, October 15th. Miss Jennings is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Jennings, of Nashville, and is well known to Wilson people, having taught expression in the Atlantic Christian College last session. Mr. Lucas is an attorney of Wilson, a native of this county and a young man of considerable ability and promise.

According to the report of the expert engineers employed by the town to make an estimate in reference to the advisability of the establishment of a municipal gas plant, the white population of Wilson is steadily increasing at a rate of 132.5 per cent a year. These figures result from a careful count of the town, together with the figures given in a former census. It is estimated that the population including the closely settled sections across the line from the town proper will total over 10,000.

According to the reports the year 1912 shows a gain in bank deposits over 1911 of almost one million dollars. The engineers also call attention to the fact that less than 400 of the white population of the town is in the class designated as non-users of gas.

ROANOKE BAPTISTS.

Association Meets at Wilson Tuesday. I. O. O. F. District Meeting.

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 9.—Roanoke Baptist Association, of which the Wilson Baptist church is a member, meets next Tuesday. Wilson church will make a satisfactory report, one of the best in its history. During the year 52 additions have been made to the church and all departments show a material increase. Especially in the offerings to missionary causes is the increase noticed. The Women's Missionary Society contributed $312, an increase of over 100 per cent. The Young Woman's Auxiliary and the Sunbeam band report similar percentage of increase in offerings. The month also closes the first year of the present pastorate, Rev. T. W. Chambliss having taken the work here October, 1912.

Wilson members of the lodges of I. O. O. F. entertained the District Convention of that order yesterday. An open session was held for the transaction of the business and last night the Roselle Rebecca Lodge was the hostess. The programme included addresses by Mayor O. P. Dickinson, Col. John F. Burton and Miss Bessie Aiken, of the Orphans' Home, at Goldsboro. Refreshments were served at the conclusion.

Wilson tobacco warehouses will close Friday on account of the presence of a circus in town. The break yesterday was again heavy, but the prices seem to be still stronger. Wilson tobacco men are making a name for this market and large shipments are being received from neighboring towns by freight.

Register of Deeds John R. Dildy has completed the work of listing the taxes for the year and the books show the total for Wilson county at $9,382,821 as against $8,590,206 for the year 1912. The total tax in Wilson township, including Wilson town, is $5,045,477 as against $4,469,725 in 1912. In addition to the above figures, the corporations are listed at $1,963,864 as against $1,892,864 for 1912. The total valuation of real and personal property this year in the county is $11,346,025, an increase of $862,955. The tax rate in Wilson county is 91 2-3 cents on the $100, including the State tax and the poll tax is $2.75 and the list shows 4,569 polls in the county. The tax rate also includes a road tax of 20 cents. The county pays $25,788 in State taxes; $29,545 in school taxes, and $31,502 in road taxes.

BRAVE SOLDIER PASSES.

Former Wilmintonian Died at Hartford, Conn.—Sister Lives Here.

Capt. and Mrs. John Barry received the sad news yesterday that Mrs. Barry's brother, Mr. Patrick Broderick, a former Wilmingtonian but in latter years a resident of Hartford, Conn., had died at his home there. His death followed that of his wife by only a few hours, and was caused by heart failure. Mr. Broderick was a brave Confederate soldier, having been a member of the First North Carolina Regiment. He was badly wounded at the battle of Winchester. After the war he served for many years as captain of police in this city. Mr. and Mrs. Barry have the tender sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

MOTHER-IN-LAW'S FRIENDLY INSISTENCE

Proved a Blessing to This Gonzales Lady, and She Has Cause to be Thankful.

Gonzales, Texas.—In referring to her recent trouble, Mrs. H. L. Threadgill, of this place, says: "Cardui, the woman's tonic, is certainly a most wonderful medicine. I had womanly troubles terribly and my back would hurt so bad at times I could hardly stand up.

Finally, my mother-in-law insisted on my trying Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am certainly thankful I did, as it did me so much good, and my old trouble has never returned.

I am now able to do all of my house work, and even help outdoors some, which is more than I was able to do for several years before I took Cardui.

I am so thankful for the benefit Cardui has been to me, and you may publish this, as it might be of interest to some other lady."

For over 50 years Cardui has been building up the strength of weak, nervous, worn-out women, as well as relieving the most serious symptoms of womanly trouble.

Such symptoms as headache, backache, pains in side, dragging down pains, irregularities, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, etc., show that you need Cardui, the woman's tonic.

A fair trial will prove to you its merit.

Try Cardui.

WELL PLEASED WITH OUTLOOK

Capt. M. L. Gilbert Meets With Encouragement in Project for New Boat Line—$10,000 Stock Subscribed.

"I am highly gratified with the hearty response which I have received from Wilmington business men for starting a new steamboat line between New York and Wilmington, and possibly Baltimore," was the reply which Capt. M. L. Gilbert, a representative of the Morse Securities Co., of New York, made last night in answer to a question as to what he thought of the prospects for the proposed line.

Following the meeting Wednesday afternoon with a large number of leading shippers Capt. Gilbert spent yesterday in the city conferring with other shippers and in assisting the committee appointed to solicit subscriptions for stock in the enterprise, a requirement of the Morse Securities Co., being that Wilmington business men take $25,000 stock not because the money is needed to finance the undertaking but rather that it will be a guarantee that the new line will get its share of the business from the metropolis to Wilmington.

Capt. Gilbert returned last night to New York City with $10,000 of the amount subscribed and confident that the remaining $15,000 can easily be secured with a little further effort on the part of the committee, not anything like all the shippers being seen during the canvass yesterday. Capt. Gilbert will make report in New York on conditions as he found them here to Mr. C. W. Morse, president of the Morse Securities Co. It is quite likely that within a week or two he will return to Wilmington and at that time the additional amount of stock required will be secured. Capt. Gilbert said that he would make favorable report and that he expected to return to Wilmington in a few weeks and complete arrangement for putting on the new line of boats.

In the meantime the matter has been placed in charge of the traffic committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the members of which will make a thorough investigation of the project, and will also continue the solicitation of subscriptions to the stock. These subscriptions are all conditioned upon a favorable report as the financial soundness of the New York company, which will be inquired into by a committee headed by Mr. J. Allan Taylor. Wilmington is asked to subscribe $25,000 of the stock in the enterprise simply as a guarantee that its business men will give the proposed line of freight steamers their support.

Capt. Gilbert was asked if he thought that there was sufficient business here to justify putting on the new line of boats, and he answered most emphatically that he thought there was. He seemed to think that even if the shipments from Wilmington North were not particularly large that there would be enough business from the North to Wilmington to sustain the new line of steamers.

Capt. Gilbert called attention to the fact that the boats that are proposed to be put on are not new boats but are steamers that the Morse Securities Co., have recently purchased, and are now having overhauled preparatory to doing ocean business. The total cost of the three boats is about $125,000, and with them a line of freight steamers can be put on at a minimum cost. They are boats which have heretofore been used on the Great Lakes.

The proposed project contemplates a freight steamer a week each way between Wilmington and New York, and possibly one every ten days that will make Baltimore also. This would give Wilmington a splendid freight steamer service, and it is believed by many would open the way for a largely increased ocean traffic.

The announcement in yesterday's Star of the probability of another steamship line between Wilmington and New York was received with the greatest interest by the people of the city. There is no doubt but that the entire amount that is asked by the Morse Securities Co., will be subscribed by the local business men. Nearly every man approached by the committee yesterday readily subscribed a liberal amount and not anything like all the shippers were seen on account of the limited time in which the committee had to work. A member of the committee stated yesterday that he was confident that the amount would be subscribed and if the investigations of another committee relative to the financial standing of the company are satisfactory the boat line will very probably be established in a few weeks.

PAPER FILES OF WAR.

Capt. Thos. D. Meares Will Make Valuable Contribution to Library.

Each day throughout the three or four months of the Spanish-American war in 1898 one copy each of two leading New York newspapers were placed on file in his home by Capt. Thos. D. Meares. He has now two copies of a complete and fairly accurate history of the war. The New York newspapers devoted much space to the details of the battles and other incidents of the contest, with the result that much more information of the war, a deeper insight into the actual feelings of the people, etc., can be obtained from the files of the papers than will be given in histories of the war that will be written and published from official documents. Capt. Meares probably has the only complete file of New York papers for that period to be found in this section. He will offer both files to the City Public Library so that they will be of benefit to the people generally of Wilmington and all others who have occasion to visit the library. The library will no doubt be very glad to receive the valuable contribution.

PAVILION OVER LAKE.

Greenfield Park Development Co., to Make Big Developments.

Plans have been drawn and bids are now asked for the construction by the Greenfield Park Development Company of a large pavilion over the surface of the lake at least 50 feet from the water's edge, in the northeast section of the lake, opposite the present small pavilion. The ball room floor will be 40x40 feet in size and will be surrounded on the four sides by promenade porches, 112 lineal feet in length. There will be provided in the pavilion a cafe, cool drink stand, etc., and rest room for ladies, to whom the management will pay special attention. The building will be of the usual open type and will be completely enclosed in glass, and, equipped with heating apparatus, will be adopted for use in the Winter as well as in the Summer. Access to the pavilion will be afforded by a 12-foot walkway, 50 feet in length.

HAVE NARROW ESCAPE AT SEA

Crew of Three Abandon Disabled Yacht and Make Land, 40 Miles Away in Row Boat—Arrive Here.

The handsome yacht Winneenah, of Baltimore, bound from New York to Wilmington, to be converted into a tug boat for service on the river here, is adrift somewhere off the Cape Fear bar if it was not lost in the gale Monday, and the crew, composed of the owner, master and pilot, are alive to tell the story of the mishap to the trim craft only because they abandoned her at the very moment they did and set out in a little 12-foot row boat for land, 40 miles, which they reached Monday night at 10:45 o'clock, after rowing continuously for 15 hours through a heavy sea and with the wind blowing a gale, without food or water for that period of time.

They landed or rather were beached at the Cape Fear Life Saving Station, Smith's Island, tired, worn and hungry, from their thrilling experience at sea. The surf was rough and the boat was overturned just before reaching the beach in water a little more than waist deep. The undertow was heavy and the men were carried out to a point over their heads before they were able to get themselves together and pull for shore. They landed exhausted. After eating a hearty meal at the life saving station they appeared but little the worse for their long battle with the waves.

Composing the crew were Mr. G. D. Croom, of Wilmington, owner of the boat, which he had just purchased for $7,000; Capt. E. B. Griffen, a prominent business man of Harbor Haven, N. Y., as well as an experienced sea captain, and Mr. O. B. Willis, a pilot. Mr. Croom and Capt. Griffen reached Wilmington yesterday afternoon and told the story of their narrow escape from a watery grave

The Winneenah is 60 feet in length and is a modernly fitted yacht. This was her second time out, the first trip being from Baltimore to New York. The boat was at Harbor Haven, Long Island, in charge of Capt. Griffen. She was purchased by Mr. Croom to be used in towing on the river here, and Capt. Griffen was engaged to bring her down to this port. They left New York on the morning of September 20th. Monday morning about 8 o'clock the manifold engine sprung a leak causing water to flood the carburetter. Capt. Griffen worked with the engine for three or four hours in an effort to get it started. It did not respond. Out of the path of steamers and with but little food and water aboard, the crew realized that it would be hopeless to remain on the yacht, especially in view of the fact that a storm appeared to be imminent. They set out in the small boat for land. They were 40 miles northwest of the Cape Fear bar. At many times during the 15 hours they were in the little craft did they despair of ever reaching shore. Capt. Griffen brought the little row boat up with him yesterday afternoon and will take it home with him to be kept as a souvenir, he said.

Life savers at the Cape Fear station told the members of the crew that it was remarkable that they were able to get through the heavy sea with the wind blowing a gale. They were certain that had they started from the yacht half an hour earlier they would have been unable to make shore, for soon after their arrival the sea became rougher and the wind blew with greatest intensity.

On the way down the coast Sunday night a large number of fish, probably mullets pursued by sharks, jumped aboard the boat. Capt. Griffen said that he never saw so many fish jump aboard a boat in the same length of time.

Capt. Griffen said that there was a chance that the yacht is still adrift. The revenue cutter Seminole, he said, is searching for her. There is no insurance on the boat.

START MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN.

One Thousand Members of Y. M. C. A. by January the Goal.

The membership committee of the Y. M. C. A. has inaugurated a campaign for new members and will endeavor to run the membership up to 1,000 by January 1st. To this end all the old members of the association have been asked to renew their membership and to get at least one friend to join also. The new $100,000 building on Market street has been completed and is now being used, though the formal opening does not occur until later. The building is one of the handsomest anywhere devoted to Y. M. C. A. work and it is well equipped in every respect. Mr. W. A. McGirt is chairman of the membership committee and the other members are Messrs. D. H. Howes and W. W. Koch. Circular letters announcing the beginning of the campaign and giving other information of the work of the association, cost of membership in the different classes, etc., were mailed yesterday to former members of the association and prospects. The committee expects a prompt and general response.

The letter which has been sent out by the membership committee reads as follows:

"The board of directors is now enabled through the liberal subscriptions of the good people of Wilmington, to offer you a thoroughly up-to-date Young Men's Christian Association. The new building is thoroughly equipped and will compare favorably with any in the South. We have been fortunate in securing the services of an exceptionally efficient employed force, each a specialist in his department and an active Christian worker. It will be their pleasure to serve you and the association in every way possible. The members will have the advantage of splendid reading room, gymnasium, baths and swimming pool, etc., and the social environment will be all that can be desired.

"In order to reap the full measure of success that is due the subscribers who have made this $100,000 building possible, it will be necessary for us to build up a large membership of young men and boys and aid in their development along all lines. To accomplish this, our committee has set the 1,000 mark as the membership goal to be reached by January 1st, and we are counting on you as one of the old members not only to take out a membership yourself, but to bring others.

"Will you not help by signing one of the inclosed cards and mailing it to J. B. Huntington, secretary, giving the other to a friend?"

CHARLESTON CLEANING UP

Much Interest Here in Indictments Brought for Illegal Sale of Whiskey — Wilmingtonians There.

Many Wilmington people read with more than the usual degree of interest the short press dispatch from Charleston, S. C., in yesterday's Star telling of the climax of the six months' campaign for law and order in that city when 300 indictments were brought by the grand jury against as many persons for violating the law in the sale of whiskey. Further indictments were promised.

The campaign in Charleston, following closely on the heels of the successful campaign in this city, has been watched with the keenest interest by many Wilmington citizens, and from different angles. The detectives who did such fine work in Wilmington under the general direction of Mr. B. C. Moore, who was then Councilman of Public Safety, were engaged to help Charleston rid herself of some of the large number of violators of the law. As bad as conditions were in Wilmington it is said that Charleston was much worse. The leaders of the movement in Charleston sought and received much valuable information from persons in this city who were connected with the campaign that resulted in improved conditions in this city. Several local citizens were kept constantly advised of the progress of the campaign in Charleston and have awaited with no little interest the grand coup of the alleged offenders.

Early in the Spring Huger & Wilbur, a well known law firm of Charleston, leaders in the movement to make Charleston a cleaner city, wrote to Mr. Moore for detailed information as to the method of procedure adopted in this city and also asked for information as to the effect of the campaign upon certain lines of business. All the the information desired, it is said, was supplied. Several other persons were asked by different Charlestonians for information relative to the work done in this city. Letters were also received from the detectives and it is likely that Wilmingtonians, some few of them, knew more about what was going on in Charleston than most of the Charlestonians themselves.

The list of those indicted published in yesterday's Charleston News and Courier does not contain the names of any former residents of this city, so far as known.

It has been said that the great trouble in Charleston heretofore has been failure to get the co-operation of the courts. It appears now that there will no longer be any cause for this charge. Judge Bowman is said to be in thorough sympathy with the movement to stop the sale of liquor illegally in Charleston. In his charge to the grand jury Wednesday he told them that if they received satisfactory evidence that any man had taken out a Federal revenue license, that was as far as they need go and they were to bring in a true bill on this evidence.

It is stated that the Law and Order League of Charleston has evidence against gambling house keepers and indictments against them will be asked.

FRONT STREET EXTENSION.

Will Not be Made to River, According to Coast Line Official.

It is not the purpose of the Atlantic Coast Line to open Front street through to the river from the old union station, according to a statement of Mr. W. N. Royall, general manager of the road. He emphatically denied any knowledge of the purpose of the railroad to make any change in the present street. For some time it has been ramored that this would be done as soon as the new union station was completed.

Many citizens have called attention to the fact that this would be a most desirable thing to do as there is an overhead bridge on Front street extending across the tracks of the Atlantic Coast Line, and an extension of the street would relieve the grade crossing at Nutt street. here are several tracks that Nutt street crosses which makes it a dangerous crossing, and it is pointed out that with Front street opened across the railroad this would make a much safer route by which to reach this section of the city.

Whether or not the City Council will take any action in the matter is not known. The Councilmen have not discussed it formally though it is probable that it will come up within the next few weeks.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LOCKAMY.

Services from Residence of Daughter Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of Mrs. Mildred Lockamy, who died Thursday night at the James Walker Memorial Hospital, was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Darden, No. 716 South Third street, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster. The services were attended by a large number of friends and there were many beautiful floral offerings. She was held in the highest esteem, and was a faithful and devoted member of the First Baptist church. The interment was in Bellevue cemetery. The pall-bearers were Dr. A. M. Baldwin and Messrs. F. T. Allen, W. H. Alderman, J. J. Vereen, J. R. Brown and S. A. Matthews.

MASTER PLUMBERS AGREE.

To Co-operate With County Health Department in Enforcing Law.

The master plumbers of the city, ten in number, met in the offices of the county health department Wednesday night for the purpose of discussing the provisions of the proposed plumbing regulations to be put into effect throughout the whole county. It was a lengthy meeting, lasting until 1 o'clock yesterday morning. The whole subject of plumbing regulations was discussed, and the plumbers pledged themselves to co-operate in the enforcement of the plumbing laws. They agreed to support the health department in its efforts to protect citizens from unreasonable requirements in specific cases where sanitary efficiency is not sacrificed, it is stated.

COAL STATION AT SOUTHPORT

Several Hundred Tons Now in Transit for Brunswick City—Through Rating from Virginia Coal Fields.

Several hundred tons of coal are now in transit from the Virginia mines which will go directly to Southport for use in the new coaling station which will be established there. Announcement was made in The Star last week of a through rate of $2.40 a ton which the Wilmington, Brunswick & Southern Railroad has secured from the Norfolk & Western and the Chesapeake & Ohio railroads. This is the same rate as that to Charleston and Savannah, and places the Brunswick city on the same basis with them as a coaling station provided the same facilities can be established there.

The Springer Coal Company of this city will have an agent at Southport to handle the coal at the railroad piers. Contracts have been made for 1,000 tons a month, and it is expected that this quantity will be increased when Southport becomes generally known as a coaling station. While there has been no installation of the latest loading devices it is said that ships of considerable size can take on coal with a degree of economy that will justify them in doing so. There is a depth of 24 feet of water at the piers.

Mr. J. A. Springer, president of the Springer Coal Company, stated yesterday that it was the expectation of his company to enlarge the facilities at Southport, provided the coaling business becomes large enough to justify it. There is every reason to believe that it will within a short time become large enough to make improved coaling equipment at Southport a paying investment.

After the bar has been deepened to the proposed depth of 40 feet the largest of the ocean steamers that ply the Atlantic from New York on their way through the Panama Canal can steam into Southport's magnificent harbor and take on sufficient coal for their needs with little loss of time. When the canal is completed this station should be patronized more largely than any other on the Atlantic coast south of New York on account of its nearness to the regular ocean path of steamers.

The rate on coal from the Virginia coal fields to Wilmington is $2.05 a ton. Heretofore there has been no through rate to Southport, and coal had to be re-shipped here for that point at the local rate.

TWO MISSIONARY VISITORS.

Rev. J. Mercer Blair Will Speak in Wilmington Churches Sunday.

On Sunday Rev. J. Mercer Blair, of Kashing, China, will be in this city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cumming. He will speak at Bethany Presbyterian church, near Wrightsboro, Sunday morning, and at the Chadbourn Memorial Presbyterian church at Winter Park Gardens Sunday night. Mr. Blair is connected with the Kashing High School, an institution of high standing, and he is regarded as one of the most useful missionaries of the Southern Presbyterian Church. He went to China from Virginia in 1897.

The two suburban churches mentioned are fortunate in having secured Mr. Blair to make these addresses, and a large congregation is earnestly desired.

Dr. Frank R. Crawford, who has been connected with the Clifton Springs sanitarium at Clifton Springs, N. Y., and who is under appointment to go to China as a medical missionary, will be the guest of Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure for a few days. Dr. Crawford will be a co-worker at the Kiangyin Hospital with Dr. Geo. G. Worth, of Wilmington, who is a medical missionary in China representing the First Presbyterian church in this city. This church supports a corps of workers at Kiangyin. Dr. Crawford will be supported by the ladies of Wilmington Presbytery.

Both these gentlemen will spend tomorrow at Rose Hill in attendance upon the Day of Prayer to be held by the Presbyterians, a ladies' missionary organization. They will receive a warm welcome in Wilmington, and there will be many who will be glad to make their acquaintance.

PLANNING ANNIVERSARY.

Baracasa nd Philatheas Celebrate Birthday of Movement Oct. 17-19.

In October, 1890, the first Baraca Bible Class was organized in Syracuse, N. Y., by Marshall A. Hudson. This class of 18 young men was the beginning of a world-wide movement which now numbers more than 10,000 classes, representing 32 Protestant denominations. The World-wide Baraca-Philathea Union is rapidly approaching a million members who are found in every State in the union and some foreign countries.

All Baraca and Philathea classes have been asked by the executive committee of the World-wide union, to join in the 23rd birthday celebration Friday evening, October 17th, with a banquet, or the following Sunday morning or evening.

Already a large number of North Carolina classes have ordered programmes from national headquarters at Syracuse, and it is believed that the banner State will maintain its standard in celebrating this important event. About 200 new classes have been organized in this State since the convention in Charlotte last April, and the State organizations have just launched a classorganization campaign, in which a handsome silver loving cup will be awarded to the one organizing the largest number of new classes by April 5th, 1914.

The Recorder's Court.

The Recorder had a light docket yesterday morning, the principal defendants being those who had imbibed too freely. These got off with fines and costs. Sylvester Ash, colored, was fined $5 and costs for an assault. Judgment was suspended upon payment of costs in a case against Malachi Williams, colored, charged with loafing around the union station. Judgment was left open in a case against August Butler, white, charged with forcible trespass. Butler was discharged from one of the boats on the river, and later the captain stated that he went back and crawled through the window and went to sleep.

Corn Show and Exhibit.

The management of the Corn Show and Sorosis Art Exhibit to be given here in November requests that merchants and business men for the next two or three weeks add postscripts to all their letters inviting people to the show and exhibit to the end that there may be as many visitors as possible. They are also asked to request their correspondents in this territory to bring products for the corn show. In this way, a most creditable show will be assured.

RECEPTION AT BRIGADE WAS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR.

The opening reception at the Boys' Brigade last night was a delightful success in every feature. The attendance was large, even for this popular institutions's receptions, the music and readings most pleasing, and those present expressed themselves as having enjoyed one of the most pleasant evenings ever spent in this hall.

The programme was opened by Miss Florence Wessell who showed her careful training in this difficult field of art. She so portrayed her characters as to make them seem perfectly natural to life and by her charming personality gave great pleasure to her audience. This number was followed by a soprano solo, sung by Miss Carrie Bowen, who captivated her audience with her splendid rendition of Becker's "Springtime," a composition which gave opportunity for a display of her perfect control and large range of voice. After prolonged applause she responded with "Just A Wearying for You."

The third number was a contralto solo, rendered by Mrs. R. C. Merritt, who sang with delightful effect, "Birthday," by Woedmann. Hers is a beautiful, full and sympathetic contralto which always wins her hearers and this was again attested by the generous applause which followed the close of this piece to which she responded with "A Boat Song," by Ware.

A piano solo followed, this being presented by Miss Marguerite Duls, who showed a knowledge of technique and strength of touch which is seldom possessed by a young player. She correctly interpreted McDowd's Scottish Poem and received such a round of applause that she was forced to respond which she did with smiling grace played a waltz by Conadalle, which proved to be another pleasing number.

A duet for tenor and soprano was sung by Miss Carrie Bowen and Mr. Chas. Dushan, "O Moment That I Bless," by Dennee, which called forth prolonged and vigorous applause.

Col. Walker Taylor then delivered an impromptu address which called forth much hearty laughter and also many favorable comments. He spoke of the work of the Brigade, setting forth at length the reason for the existence of the institution and the conditions of membership and the remarkable results which had been achieved during the 16 years of the existence of the Brigade in Wilmington.

The accompanists were Miss Katie Foard and Mr. E. H. Munson, both of whom contributed largely to the pleasure and success of the evening. After the rendition of the programme delightful refreshments were served. The remainder of the evening was spent in social conversation and other pleasures and at 11 o'clock the happy crowd dispersed, all voting this one of the most enjoyable evenings ever spent in the Boys' Brigade armory.

WIRELESS STOCK BOOMS.

Wilmington Citizens May Get Dividends in New Concern.

Local holders of stock in the United Wireless Telegraph Co. were treated to a surprise this week when they received letters from th Wireless Liquidating Co., which absorbed the old bankrupt concern stating that arrangements had been made for the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. to take over its assets provided two-thirds of its stockholders were willing to the transfer.

For many moons the stockholders here had thought that they had been buncoed out of their hard-earned cash, and they are indeed glad to have an opportunity to become stockholders in a strong financial concern like the Marconi. The receipts of this company which has about 50 stations on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts were over $100,000 for the past year. There are 450 American ships which are equipped with the Marconi wireless apparatus.

When the United Wireless went bankrupt the Wireless Liquidating Co. was formed to take over its assets. Ever since that time, it seems, the directors have been at work trying to devise some method by which the stockholders could get their money back. The proposition finally hit upon was to have the Marconi buy it out by an exchange of stock.

..Theatrical..

Seats will go on sale tomorrow morning at J. Hicks Bunting's drug store for the special appearance in Wilmington Monday night of the distinguished actress, Miss Annie Russell, and her all-star company in a brilliant performance of "She Stoops to Conquer."

Her appearance will undoubtedly be the dramatic event of the season, from a strictly dramatic standpoint, and Wilmington theatre-goers should give the noted actress a big welcome upon this, her first appearance in their city. Not only in appreciation of the actress herself, but in order that she may come again and to encourage other great stars to journey this way. The press has lavished praise upon Miss Russell and her splendid company.

Miss Russell was last seen with the New Theatre Company, of which she was the leading woman member.

The realization of Miss Russell's long cherished ideal represents her own capital and experience gained through years of faithful service in our theatres—a service that has touched practically and ideally the theatre's best traditions. The undertaking of the present organization was greatly encouraged by a number of New York men and women variously distinguished in artistic, social and public life, who endorsed her plans and generously subscribed to the series of performances. The success of the New York engagement has made it possible for Miss Russell to make the organization permanent, enlarging the repertoire, which later this season will include other classic plays, and, perhaps, some modern ones in harmony with the others now in the repertoire.

Miss Russell begins modestly, but earnestly, in the matter of productions. She has aimed not for any stupendous effects, but rather an artistic expression of the period—colorful, quaint and in good taste. Studious consideration has been given to historical accuracy. The company was also selected with a knowledge of the requirements and demands of the old comedies. The cast includes besides Miss Russell, Oswald Yorke, Percival Stevens, Murray Kinnell, Fred W. Permain, Elolliott Paget, Johnson Briscoe, Littledale Power, Henrietta Goodwin, Harold Maltzer and others.

"The Girl of the Underworld."

"The Girl of the Underworld" that plays at the Academy of Music Tuesday, October 14th, has the distinction, it is said, of being the best comedy drama before the public. In some cases it has been the prevailing thought that "The Girl of the Underworld," is risque, vulgar and suggestive. Its author, Jack Gorman, wishes to announce emphatically that "The Girl of the Underworld" will not offend or cause one pang of shame during its four beautiful acts. There is not one suggestive line in this play. Mothers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts, don't for one second hesitate about seeing "The Girl of the Underworld". It tells the truth, it tells facts; it is a great big, grand one night's entertainment. See a touch of true to nature sentiment in "The Girl of the Underworld." You will be better morally, physically, mentally, and intellectually after seeing the greatest play in a decade. As there are a number of attractions next week, prices of this attraction will run only to 50 cents, and seats will be on sale at J. Hicks Bunting's drug store Monday morning.

At the Grand.

Folks by the score found solid comfort, cheer and much brightness away from the dreary nature of yesterday, by going to the cozy, handsome Grand. There a big show was offered and hugely enjoyed by large audiences. The fact that the Grand can do big business on an inclement day attests as to its drawing powers.

Today a bill the equal of any yet offered and headed by the superb dramatic, Edison's "The Younger Generation," will be offered. This topliner is a great problem play, showing that love in the end will find a way and will rule. There is another great, gripping dramatic in "Sunlight," which is a story of the slums of a great city and then of the vast, fresh, open country, where peace and happiness can generally be found. A fine cast appears in this strikingly strong film story.

Yet another powerful dramatic that will please today will be the Vitagraph's very latest, "The Passing of Joe Mary." It is a tale of the West, with a clank of cavalry sabres and the dare-devil courage of the cowboy. It is one of the most exciting stories ever placed to moving pictures. You always see the best at the Grand Theatre for the wee bit of 5c, afternoon and night.

Six Pictures at Bijou.

Six reels of films at the popular Bijou today, including the great Warner feature, "The Raiders of the Mexican Border." Truly this is the most mammoth and astounding show ever presented by a moving picture theatre in Wilmington and probably the biggest ever presented anywhere for the money, because the Bijou will not raise its price of admission today, holding on to the same old 5 cent price, afternoon and night. The Warner feature alone is a notable offering and is in three reels. All told, including soldiers, Mexicans and cowboys, over two thousand people are seen in this film and there is a thrill about every second.

Two other great dramatic films are stars today, coming next in glory to the Warner feature. They are Kalem's "The Bribe," which is a throbbing political story of the times and therefore exceedingly fascinating, and Selig's "The Redemption of Railroad Jack," something novel in the dramatic line.

Then there are two superb funny pictures that will convulse the onlookers. One is Essanay's "His Athletic Wife," showing how she manages her worse half, and the other is "What Cupid Did," a jolly love story. No one can afford to go shy on the Bijou today.

AGED CITIZEN DEAD.

Mr. John Taylor Passed Away Last Night After Lingering Illness.

It will cause deep regret to many friends to learn of the death of Mr. John Taylor, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of the city, who passed peacefully away last night at 11:45 o'clock at his home, No. 201 Church street, after a lingering illness of several months. He was 75 years old and had lived in Wilmington for the last 30 years coming here from New York City. Two years ago he retired from active business.

Surviving him besides his wife are the following children: Miss Hattie Taylor, Mrs. I. H. Weil, Mrs. Fred Schiller and Mr. Julius Taylor, of this city, and Messrs. M. Taylor and Leo Taylor, of Lynn, Mass. The bereaved family will have the sympathy of a host of friends in their deep sorrow.

The funeral arrangements had not been made last night, and will be announced later.

—The re-painting of the interior of the Court House, for which the contract was recently let by the Commissioners, has begun and rapid progress is being made on the job. The walls in the corridors have already been treated to a fresh coat of paint and they look decidedly attractive, being changed from white to a pleasing shade of green. The contractor expects to complete the job in six weeks.

—Postmaster Green stated yesterday that it was quite likely that revolving doors would be installed in the postoffice within a short time. He recommended this some time ago, and the matter was referred to Capt. Devereaux, of Charleston, S. C., building inspector for the government. After making an investigation he also recommended their installation, and his report was sent by telegram early this week to the Postoffice Department at Washington. The Department now has the matter under advisement.

COTTON MARKET GOES DOWN

Broke Through the Thirteen Cent Level Yesterday—Closed from Nineteen to Twenty-two Points Off.

New York, Oct. 9.—The cotton market broke through the 13-cent level today, with January contracts selling at 12.90, or about $4.65 per bale below the high records of last week.

Relief from the Atlantic storm apprehensions and talk of easier Southern spot markets seemed to inspire general heavy offerings, while stop orders were uncovered during the progress of the decline. Covering and reports that trade buyers had absorbed a good many of the contracts thrown over during the morning, steadied prices in the later trading and caused rallies of 9 or 10 points from the lowest, with the close steady at a net loss of 19 to 22 points. The market was under heavy pressure almost from the start, until prices showed a net loss of from 26 to 29 points. The opening was steady, at an advance of 3 points on October in sympathy with steady cables, but later months were 3 to 5 points lower and after some little irregularity the market became very weak and unsettled. Weather advices indicated that the Atlantic storm passed inland, and there was nothing to indicate any serious damage in the interior. Some light rains were reported in the Southwest, but generally speaking weather conditions seemed favorable and evidently led to a renewal of the selling movement which was checked yesterday afternoon by fear of Eastern belt damage. Offerings became a little less active below 12.95 for January, however, and the later rally was helped by more favorable crop advices from New Orleans, where private wires claimed that factors were covering their tables and refusing to meet the decline. Houses with Southern connections were among the heavy sellers here during the morning.

Spot, quiet. Middling uplands, 13.70; do. gulf, 13.95; sales, none.

Futures closed steady.

SETS OFF BIG CHARGE.

With Long Distant Current Wilson Blows Up Dam.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Pressing a key at the White House at 2 o'clock, Eastern time, tomorrow afternoon, President Wilson will release an electric current that will travel over land and under sea to the Panama canal to explode a charge of dynamite and destroy Gamboa dike.

This dike is the last great physical obstruction to the opening of water communication between the two oceans, although the wreckage of the dike and two earth slides, one at Cucaracha and another at Gold Hill, must be cut through before the canal actually can be opened.

When the electric current started by President Wilson traverses the land wires to Galveston and passes thence by cable to the isthmus, the canal engineers expect the spark to explode the thousand charges of dynamite which have been buried in the 300 feet of dike.

A fleet of dredges will attack the slides as they have cleared the wreckage of the dike. It is believed it will be possible to pass the lighter boats used by the canal diggers from ocean to ocean in a few weeks.

Panama, Oct. 9.—Preparations are completed for the destruction of the Gamboa dike which separates the waters of Gatun Lake from the Culebra cut. The barrier has been mined from end to end, but out of 1,277 charges planted only about 400 will be fired at one shot. The others will be discharged later.

While Friday will not be an official holiday in the Canal zone every one who can be spared from work will journey to the scene. The danger zone will be guarded by a strong cordon of police.

Fourteen units of the Atlantic dredging fleet were successfully passed through Gatun locks today on their way to the Gamboa dike and will begin operations as soon as the barrier is shattered.

So far as reported no one was killed. The town of Sargent is reported to have been badly damaged but no definite report has come from there.

WHEAT REMAINS THE SAME

Government Report Slightly Favors Bulls Instead of Proving Bearish as Was Expected.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Instead of proving bearish, the government report today on wheat turned slightly in favor of the other side. The news, however, came too late to affect prices, which closed steady, the same as last night to a shade decline.

As to corn, the Washington estimate showed some gain as expected. The grain nevertheless finished ¼ to ⅝@⅝ net higher, with oats ⅛@¼ up, and provisions 5c. off to 5c. advance.

Convention Closes With Election of Officers.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 9.—The American Bankers' Association closed its 39th convention here today.

Arthur Reynolds, of Des Moines, first vice president, was elevated to the presidency, and W. A. Law, of Philadelphia, succeeded to the first vice presidency without contest. It was decided to hold the next convention in Richmond, Va.

STOCK MARKET INDEFINITE

Up and Down in Abrupt Swings—Nothing in the Way of News to Account for the Fluctuations.

New York, Oct. 9.—The stock market today was a contradictory affair. Prices moved up and down in abrupt swings during the forenoon, with nothing in the way of definite news to account for the fluctuations.

When the one important development of the day was made known which might have been expected to find instant reflection in the level of quotations, the market placidly ignored it.

For several weeks the street had heard confident predictions of an extra cash distribution on Union Pacific out of the proceeds of the sales of Southern Pacific stock. It was largely on the strength of these predictions that Union Pacific was pushed up to 162¼ less than a fortnight ago. But the announcement today by the directors that no action would be taken at present, had little effect. After a decline at the opening the market picked up and gave a mild display of strength during the morning. Around the noon hour the list dropped abruptly, reaching lowest prices for the long decline. Southern Pacific and Rock Island, pfd., touched new low figures for the year. Then prices moved up to the earlier high level. The list dropped slightly but at the close prices were well toward the top.

The recent turn in the money market was accentuated by a further advance in rates for all fixed periods. Call money was held firmly at the recent higher level. Bankers were of the opinion that the higher rates might be expected to prevail for some time.

The declining tendency in certain bonds was checked, but the main movement continued downward. Total sales, par value, $1,300,000. United States 2s and Panama 2s and 3s declined ¼ on bid prices to new low figures. United States 2s, registered, sold "seller five days" at 94½, compared with the previous regular transaction at 96. Total sales, 434,700, including Amalgamated, 54,100; C. and O., 1,000; Lehigh, 1,200; L. and N., 300; N. and W., 500; Reading, 66,000; Southern Railway, 900; do., pfd., 400; Tennessee Copper, 2,100; Union Pacific, 67,700; U. OPENING GAME TONIGHT.

Basket Ball Teams of Boys' Brigade Have Strong Line Ups.

Tonight will witness the opening game of basket ball for the championship of the Brigade. The teams composing this league are Company B, Company A, Cardinals and Eagles.

These teams will be in position to put up a class of ball this year such as has been seldom seen in the city, as all have had years of experience. They have played together for several season, and some good ball may be looked for.

The Cardinals will have a new youngster in Marvin Register, who is expected to do great things this season. He was the leading player in Company C for three seasons, and as he has put on weight and height during the past three years, he is now able to compete most successfully with any of the older men. This team is light but fast, and they know the game from A to Z, and they will make things warm for their opponents.

Company A will present two players who are new to the team, but who are well known to the lovers of this game here. These are Cameron at forward and Gerdes at guard. These additions to Company A team will add greatly to their playing strength, and they will be able to give a good account of themselves regardless of who their opponents are.

The Eagles have been completely reorganized. Applewhite, the star of the Tuesday Night League last year, has been selected to lead the fortunes of this aggregation, and he has both ability and knowledge of the game to give a good account of himself and his flyers. He will be surrounded by young players, but all good ones. What they lack in weight they more than make up in speed and knowledge of the fine points of the game.

Tonight Company B will meet the Cardinals, and this should be a battle royal. The Eagles will try to wrest victory from Company A, and as both are strong, this also should be a good game. The games will begin at 8:30. The public is invited. Admission will be free.

RUBE MARQUARD HANDS BOUQUET TO BUSH

ed every batter on the Giants side. There was hardly a time when our hitters looked for a curve that this Bush did not swing over a fast one, and visa versa. He seemed to have a super-human knowledge of what our batsmen were expecting and double-crossed them just as Matty did in Philadelphia.

Bush had everything that a pitcher needs to win, including the confidence of his manager, who never batted an eye lash even when we got a start in the fifth and seventh.

Demaree Today.

I certainly was disappointed that the Giants could not hit in the pinch but I am absolutely confident that Demaree will beat Shawkey today. Demaree is a lad with all kinds of nerve, the curves and the speed. He has picked up all kinds of valuable points from Matty and he is going to be the surprise of the Giant staff.

PRESIDENT REVIEWS CAVALRY.

Wilson Sees Three Regiments Perform Stunts.

Washington, Oct. 9.—On the broad green meadows along the Potomac, a great cavalcade of Uncle Sam's fighting troopers, their heads bent close to the horses' manes, and their sabres flashing aloft, today charged past the President of the United States at full gallop in battle formation.

It was the biggest cavalry review that had been held in the National Capital since the marching hosts returned after the Civil War. President Wilson, members of his cabinet, Supreme Court Justices, the diplomatic corps, and the military affairs committee of Congress sat in the reviewing stand while the 10th cavalry, a negro regiment; the 11th and two squadrons of the 15th demonstrated the results of a Summer's training at Winchester, Va., in the latest cavalry tactics promulgated by American military experts.

The cavalrymen executed their maneuvers on the silent signal system and as they threw their columns far across the parade ground a mighty shout of approval went up from the crowd.

First in the new double line formation, in columns of platoons at full gallop, the uniform lines of horsemen passed the reviewing stand while cavalry bands played martial music. Regimental drills and an exhibition of fighting tactics were given with precision and smoothness for nearly two hours. Foreign military attaches in uniform galloped about observing the drill from different points. President Wilson, who had been given his first view of a big force of cavalry, complimented the troops through Col. C. D. Murray, their commanding officer.

The cavalcade which will be disbanded tomorrow, consisted of the 10th, from Fort Ethan Allen, Vt.; the 11th, from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and two squadrons of the 15th, one of them from Fort Sheridan, Ill., and the other from Fort Myer, Va.

The programme of cavalry exercises was formulated by a board which spent several months in Europe, carefully studying the cavalry systems of Germany, France, Italy and England with a view to adopting all that goes to make greatest efficiency to the needs of the cavalry arm of Uncle Sam's defenses.

FAYETTEVILLE MERCHANTS TAX

Aldermen Will Not Abrogate It—Good Roads Day.

Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 9.—By a vote of six to two the board of aldermen refused the petition of the merchants of Fayetteville that their privilege tax be removed. A great part of the membership of the local merchants' association appeared before the board and made the protest. The tax ordinance against which the merchants objected was passed as a part of a general tax measure by the board on May 23rd, and imposes a payment of $15 a year on merchants carrying a stock of goods.

The Merchants' Association is consulting its counsel as to the advisability of resisting the measure by legal means.

The people of Cedar Creek township are taking more interest in the Good Roads Day movement than the people of any other part of Cumberland. On the two days set apart by the Governor, November 5th and 6th, the county convict force, which is working at Buckhorn, will help the people of Cedar Creek work the road from Buckhorn to Stedman, by special permission of the county commissioners. Two of the commissioners, A. B. Smith and D. K. Taylor, will be there themselves, and will, like the Governors of Missouri and Kansas, put in a good day's work—or two to be exact. The effort is being made to get out every man—white or black—in the township. The people will serve a stewed dinner to the convicts. Deputy United States Marshal D. C. Downing is taking the lead in the work.

DEPARTMENT'S REPORT.

Estimate of Enetire Corn Crop Increases 22,000,000 Bushels.

Washington, Oct. 9.—An improvement in the condition of the corn crop during the past month, to the extent of 22,000,000 bushels in the estimated final production was the feature of the Department of Agriculture's October crop report issued this afternoon. The indicated final production is placed at 2,351,000,000 bushels, or 774,000,000 below last year's record crop.

Tobacco prospects increased 1.9 per cent during the month and flax 5 per cent, while prospects of rice decreased 7.4 per cent, buckwheat 6.7 per cent, and white potatoes 1.8 per cent. The preliminary estimates of the production of Spring wheat and all wheat place their yield at about the same quantity as predicted last month. Oats prospects increased so that the preliminary estimate of reduction is 56,000,000 bushels more than estimated in September.

Work of Hoodlums.

New York, Oct. 9.—Both Giants and Athletics had early dinners after today's third world's series game at the Polo Grounds, and took evening trains to Philadelphia, where the championship struggle will be renewed tomorrow. The Athletics had an exceedingly unpleasant experience on their way down town in automobiles from the grounds. A crowd of young hoodlums spied the first taxicab carrying Capt. Danny Murphy, Chief Bender and First Baseman McInnis as it was moving slowly down Seventh avenue and began hurling pebbles, sticks and other handy objects at the players, who narrowly escaped injury by the fusillade.

Policemen hurried to the scene and dispersed the crowd before any one was harmed. No one in the cabs following was molested.

Connie Mack was his usual reticent self at the station, answering questioners laconically. He was non-commital as to his selection of a pitcher for tomorrow.

"They all look good to me," he said. "That was a great game today," he added. "I have high hopes of winning tomorrow," he said.

Manager McGraw hurried to another train without giving a hint as to which of his twirlers he might assign for duty in the next battle.

PARKER DENOUNCES GOVERNOR SULZER

tion which threatened not only the office which he held, but his very liberty."

This evoked a statement from Peck tonight in which he characterized Marshall's attack upon him as a "lie told for pay."

Judge Parker did not finish his address today. He occupied more than two hours this afternoon and dealt only with the "money articles" of the impeachment charges.

He read into the record the first complete statement of Sulzer's financial transactions during the campaign. It follows:

Shows Transactions.

Contributions not reported $40,400; contributions paid to broker $40,462.50, contributions delivered to Sulzer $29,300; cash deposited by Sulzer in bank $14,400; checks endorsed by Sulzer $3,200.

The purpose for which each contribution was made was set forth nearly as possible.

The statement showed that $3,450 of the unreported contributions had been designated for use in his campaign.

Judge Parker said he was amazed at the eloquence which Marshall can display in attempting to uphold "so absolutely worthless a character" as Sarecky demonstrated himself to be while on the witness stand.

"Now he testifies," continued Parker, "that he came in with this statement, showed it to the Governor, and that the Governor looked it over and said, 'Is it all right?' 'Well,' he said, 'it is just as near right as I can make it with the data I have,' and the Governor signed it.

Denounces Sulzer.

"When William Sulzer glanced over these figures he must have been very proud indeed of his pupil for all the education that Sarecky had in practical affairs he had acquired in William Sulzer's office and necessarily under his direction. We can well understand that he must indeed have chuckled at the wisdom of Sarecky when he glanced over this list for he did not find in that list the checks of bankers like Jacob H. Schiff, nor the checks of his brewery friends. Not a single check could he discover there of a politician. Not a single dollar was there representing any of the great interests in New York. Indeed, there was no check there larger than $500.

"Well now, of what use, your Honors, is that testimony? You having heard him do not believe it was true. I am sure; but suppose it was. The man who read that list and examined it knew it was not true. It does not help him for the boy to say he did the best he could." The attorney touched only briefly on the article which charged perjury. The contention of the defense was that the law did not require an affidavit attached to a campaign statement, but Judge Parker said that whether an affidavit was attached or not, if the oath was taken in regard to an inaccurate statement, perjury was committed.

Discusses Larceny Charge.

In discussing the "larceny" article, Judge Parker reviewed the history of all the concealed contributions and sought to show that their donors contributed in the belief that they were aiding Sulzer, the candidate.

"Those who gave him money," said Judge Parker, "could only believe the money was needed and would be expended to further his election. He knew this and if he didn't inform the contributors of the use which he intended to make of the money contributed, then he falsely has fraudulently pretended to them that the funds were intended and would be used for campaign purposes."

Most of Mr. Marshall's address centered about the larceny and perjury charges. Mr. Marshall said no larceny existed, because the money came into Sulzer's hands legally and that the charge of perjury was groundless because the law never required an affidavit to a campaign statement.

BIG INCREASE IN EDGECOMBE.

Million Dollars More Taxable Property—Death of Mrs. Morris.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Tarboro, N. C., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Myer Morris, one of the most prominent women of this section, died last night at 10 o'clock, after an extended illness, aged 61 years. Until a few years ago Mrs. Morris conducted a millinery store here. The remains were taken today to Richmond, Va., for interment.

Real and personal property increased one million dollars in Edgecombe county during the past year, according to the tax books just turned over to Sheriff Hyatt. This is the largest increase in any one year in the history of the county and is partly accounted for by the excellent crops produced in 1912. This increase is pretty evenly divided among the townships, Rocky Mount excepted. In this township one tobacco concern gave in $390,000 more property than in 1912. The total tax valuation for both real and personal property given in this year amounts to $12,000,000.

of blocking road building. He declared engineers said the road would have to be changed to get an easier grade. As the bill passed, the Governor will have to say finally whether the road should be cut, but it was pointed out that he would have just one vote in the matter.

Mr. Gold, of Guilford, introduced a joint resolution to provide for filling a vacancy on the board of trustees of the University, and Mr. Weatherspoon, by request, introduced a resolution to give the laborers and pages of the Assembly extra pay.

The following bills were passed on third reading: To protect fish in Robeson county; to make school attendance compulsory in Avery and Madison counties; to amend charter of Burgaw; to establish recorder's court in Madison county; bill relating to Superior Courts in Cumberland county; to amend road law relative of Thurmond to Trap Hill; the resolution for the sale of 35 acres of land in Raleigh held by the State school for the blind passed without objection.

Among bills passed final reading in the Senate were: Revise the charter of Clinton; amend the drainage law applying to Parkersville district, Perquimans county; incorporate Uharrie and Pee Dee Railroad Co.; amend the public law of 1913 as to Jacksonville township, Onslow county; incorporate Louisburg and Rocky Mount Railroad.

Senator Bryant's bill providing for two additional members for the Corporation Commission, making five instead of three members, came in for long discussion and finally in deference to the wishes of Senators Jones, Hobgood and others, the bill, with other railroad bills, was referred to the Committee on Public Service Corporations. This on motion of Senator Bryant, author of the bill, after encountering strong opposition.

The Senate in committee of the whole on constitutional amendments adopted proposal 8, to provide for emergency judges.

Proposal 9, for the establishment of one or more intermediate appellate courts inferior to the Supreme Court, was voted down. Proposal 10, for striking out certain obsolete sections of the Constitution, was defeated.

Senator Barnes offered a new proposal that would amend the constitution so that justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction in cases for claim and delivery and torts where as much as $200 is involved instead of the present maximum limit of $50. This was adopted. The Senate adjourned until otnight.

MORRIS KNOCKED OUT.

Gunboat Smith Draws Decision Over Oklahoma Boy.

New York, Oct. 9.—Gunboat Smith, of California, defeated Carl Morris, of Oklahoma, in the fifth round of a ten-round fight here tonight. The referee disqualified Morris for fouling. The Californian had the better of the match in every round except the second.

Morris was 54 pounds heavier than his opponent and was very clumsy and awkward, often trying to get the better of Smith by sheer force of superior weight. Smith did the cleaner work by far.

In the first round Smith managed to get in several good blows. In the second Morris rushed Smith to the ropes and at close quarters got in a left and right to the head. Morris did considerable roughing in the third and was cautioned for holding.

There were cries of foul in the fourth round when Morris hit Gunboat low, but the referee disregarded them. Smith staggered his man with a right to head and Morris resorted to holding tactics. In the fifth Morris played for the body. Smith got inside and sent a short right hook to the head at close quarters. In a mix-up which followed Morris hit Smith very low on the body. Smith staggered to the ropes and tried to pull himself toward his corner and the referee disqualified Morris.

Morris was the favorite and the crowd cheered him loudly as he left the ring.

FAYETTEVILLE MILITARY.

Lieut. A. G. Murchison Elected Captain—Special Tax Election.

Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 9.—Lieut. Alton G. Murchison, of Company F, N. C. N. G., who a week ago turned in his resignation as third officer of Company F, was last night elected captain of the command, to succeed Capt. Paul Watson, who retired with the rank of major coincident with Lieut. Murchison's resignation. Although business claims had prompted the latter's withdrawal, the men of the company were not satisfied, and insisted on Lieut. Murchison's returning to active duty and assuming the captaincy, because, next to Capt. Watson, they preferred him for their commander. First Sergt. Robert J. Lamb was made second lieutenant. Both elections were by acclamation.

An election as to the levy of a special tax of not more than 30 cents on the $100 valuation of property and not more than 90 cents on the poll to supplement the school fund of the sixth school district of Carver's Creek township has been ordered by the county commissioners November 25th. The election was petitioned for by 18 citizens and tax-payers of the district.

Hamburg, Oct. 9.—The ocean steamship companies, the Hamburg-American, the Cunard and the White Star, have entered into a contract with the Boston harbor authorities, according to the terms of which Boston will build a dry dock to accommodate the biggest steamers and in return three companies have guaranteed to arrange for a minimum number of dockings.

ITCHING HUMORS.

There is Now a Way to Escape These Skin Torments.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

People sometimes say, "Well, that new remedy of yours, Saxo Salve, may cure recent cases of eczema, but I doubt if it will help me for I have had eczema a long time."

The fact is, Saxo Salve was devised as much for chronic skin troubles as for acute cases, and it is equally effective, though usually the chronic cases are more stubborn.

Numbers of cases right around here could be cited, showing that Saxo Salve is exactly the remarkable soothing and curative remedy for skin diseases that we claim.

The itching is stopped in a few moments after the first application, and improvement is seen in a few days.

All humors and disorders of the skin, whether scaly, crusted or in the very first stages, usually yield to Saxo Salve promptly. If it does not, in your case your money will be returned.—Robt. R. Bellamy, druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

WILL RACE IN TEXAS.

Vanderbilt Cup Event Will Likely Go to San Antonio.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 9.—John L. Carrington, secretary of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, announced tonight that in all probability the 1913 Vanderbilt cup automobile race would be run in San Antonio.

Mr. Carrington stated that assurance has been given that the event could be secured if an expense fund of $15,000 is raised and a suitable course provided. Approximately one-half of the required amount has been subscribed.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 9.—Herbert Thomas alias Thomas Edwards, a prisoner in the city jail, has confessed that he was one of the party of three who recently held up the train on th Alabama Great Southern railroad, near Woodstock, Ala., according to the police. Thomas named two young men called Coley and Elmire as his accessories in the hold-up. Thomas says he received but $20 of the amount taken from the train.

BITS OF HISTORY.

THE CHICAGO FIRE

On October 8, 1871, Mrs. O'Leary's Cow kicked over the lantern and the city of Chicago was during the next two days almost completely burned. Out of the ashes immediately rose a city which, for its age, is the greatest the world has ever seen. The things that made the present city possible were ambition, determination and faith in the future.

Such attributes applied to our daily affairs would make us all independent in a few short years. Nearly every man can earn more than he is earning and can get along on less than he is spending.
